Expect Work To Be Authorized On Two County Road Projects

Two Highway Improvements Are Now Likely

Indications New Wilmington; And Pulaski-Bedford Routes To Be Improved

WILL BE BUILT AS STATE-COUNTY ROADS

State Willing To Go Ahead —Commissioners Securing Damage Releases

Improvement of the New Castle-Mercer road from Highland avenue to New Wilmington, and from Pulaski to New Bedford this summer seems to be assured, according to the latest word received by the county commissioners.

Several weeks ago the commissioners sent word to State Highway Superintendent, Samuel Lewis, that the county was ready to supply its share of the funds toward building the road. In response to the communication a letter was received which seemed to indicate that the state would not be in a position to pay its share of the expense. Later advices alter this view.

The roads are to be improved on a 50-50 basis, that is, the county will pay one half of the expense and the state one-half. The project now hinges on the ability of the county commissioners to secure releases of damages.

Releases Signed

Commissioners have spent two days going over the route and are pleased with the reception which they have been received from property owners. They latter realize that an improved road would add greatly to the value of their properties and are willing to sign releases.

County Commissioner P. O. Elder said this morning that the attitude of property owners is in marked contrast to that of some on other

PA NEWC OBSERVES

Dr. Mary J. Baker, health director for the city's schools, told the school board Wednesday night among other things that 1,508 pupils of the system had defective vision when she examined them. Dr. Baker's 1931-32 report was filed along with the summary of other departmental heads.

It seems that midnight bathing has become the popular sport here and elsewhere. Pa Newc saw a group of young people returning from a swim about 12 last evening.

Perhaps we all got more sleep last night than the previous night; at least Young Pa Newc did. After the sun went down the air cooled off to an even temperature.

There is a splendid new tennis court being made on the corner of Clenmore boulevard and Albert street. When Pa Newc passed there last evening a group of young men, in spite of the heat, were working very hard to hurry its completion.

A young man has to fill a great many requirements to be appointed to the army air corps these days. James Williams, son of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur B. Williams, Hillsville, has just been commissioned second lieutenant and will go to the Texas training fields soon. He is deserving of real praise.

An East North street family, just returned from a New York state motor trip, tells Pa Newc of an unusual experience. While driving along a highway they went right

EXPECT POST OFFICE TO BE STARTED THIS FALL

By ARTHUR C. WIMER
Special Washington Correspondent
New Castle News

WASHINGTON, D. C., July 15.—Construction of New Castle's new post office will probably start late this fall according to present estimates of the treasury department.

The department does not expect to receive the final drawings of the building from the New Castle architects preparing them until about August 1. It will then require about six weeks or two months to check and approve the plans, write the specifications, and place the job on the market.

Present indications have it that construction may be commenced sometime in October.

The department hopes to advertise the Ellwood City post office late this month and have construction start in September.

Leaders In Legislature Marshal Forces To Make Huge Economy Bill Stand

Some Compromises Are Being Made To Muster Sufficient Votes

(BULLETIN)

HARRISBURG, July 15.—Formal executive disapproval of the state assembly's work made its first appearance unexpectedly today.

Gov. Gifford Pinchot vetoed the Turner house resolution which would require the budget secretary to issue quarterly statements of the status of the general fund.

In addition to pointing out several reasons why he believed the resolution would not serve any useful purpose, the governor asserted that his call for the convening of the special session did not cover such legislation and, therefore, even with executive approval, the resolution would be a nullity.

HARRISBURG, July 15.—Determined in their defiance of Gov. Gifford Pinchot, sponsor of the Assembly's huge economy bills worked today in the flush of initial triumph to design a scheme of legislative strategy aimed at overriding inevitable veto.

Despite the disbanding of legislators for the week-end, bloc leaders pushed their plans to muster the two-thirds vote necessary to nullify the Governor's threatened rejection of legislation.

Trades, concessions, and compromises were under way, principally among house members, in the effort to corral maximum strength. Revision of the principal appropria-

TALKS BEFORE OHIO LEADERS

(International News Service)

COLUMBUS, O., July 15.—Inaugurated by Secretary of War Patrick J. Hurley, the 1932 G. O. P. campaign was formally under way today in Ohio.

The secretary of war opened the campaign at a meeting of the Republican state convention here last night during which he defended the administration of President Herbert Hoover and challenged Governor Franklin D. Roosevelt, the Democratic nominee, to explain his promise of "a new deal for the American people."

"If this be a new deal," Hurley declared, "the candidates is dealing from the same old deck from which . . . William Jennings Bryan gave the American people so many new deals."

Hurley called upon the convention delegates to compare the "vague, indefinite suggestions of the Democratic candidates for president with the definite, logical, all-inclusive, constructive, non-partisan reconstruction program and the accomplishments of Herbert Hoover."

The new school replaced one recently destroyed by fire.

Many special features of construction recently developed were incorporated in the plans for the structure.

MUST SHATTER LONG PRECEDENT

(International News Service)

HARRISBURG, July 15.—Legislative leaders drawing their lines taut in an attempt to override a promised veto of their big state economy program, flout tradition of forty years' standing.

Not once in all that time has a Pennsylvania legislature enacted a law over a governor's veto. Realization of the goal which anti-administration forces today are seeking would shatter the precedent that has withstood the assaults of two score years.

Hoover Cuts Own Salary 20 Per Cent

Cabinet And Vice President To Take 15 Per Cent Cut

CABINET MEMBERS REQUEST DECREASE

President Takes Cut Of $15,000 On His Annual Salary

(BULLETIN)
(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, July 15.—President Hoover has decided to cut his own salary 20 per cent, and members of the cabinet will take a 15 per cent cut, it was announced at the White House today. Vice President Curtis also will take a 15 per cent cut.

In Mr. Hoover's case, the cut will cost him $15,000, and reduce his salary to $60,000 a year.

The cabinet officers will lose $1,800 a year each, bringing their salaries from $12,000 to $10,200.

The salary of the vice president is $15,000 a year, so Curtiss will lose $2,250 a year.

The following statement was issued at the white house:

"The president has received the unanimous request from members of the cabinet that they should be subjected to the maximum reduction of salaries possible under the economy bill. The president has, therefore, issued the necessary order by which they will be reduced fifteen per cent instead of the alternative which would amount to 8⅓ per cent under the furlough provision."

No reference was made in the statement to Mr. Hoover's own cut of 20 per cent. It was verbally announced by one of his secretaries.

Most of the cabinet are men of wealth.

Torrid Heat Grips Nation

Twenty One Deaths In Past 24 Hours Due To Heat

HOTTEST POINT IS DOWN IN GEORGIA

(International News Service)

From the Rockies to the Atlantic coast, with the exception of extreme northern and a few other portions, the United States continued today to swelter in heat that approached or passed the 100 degree mark.

Twenty one deaths over the nation within the last 24 hours were attributed to the heat, a survey by International News Service showed. At least that many more lives were lost in drownings. There were hundreds of prostrations.

Government forecasters predicted little immediate relief for most parts of the country, although temperatures were somewhat lower in the North Atlantic states and in Iowa.

More normal weather conditions experienced today in Western Iowa are expected to move eastward tonight and tomorrow, forecasters said but there is yet no genuine relief in sight on this the third day of the summer's first protracted heat wave.

The heaviest death toll within the last 24 hours was taken in Ohio, with four persons succumbing to the heat and six drownings. Nine persons died since the beginning of the heat wave in Chicago, three of them within the last 24 hours.

Although the highest temperature—106 degrees—was reported from Georgia, the central and eastern states suffered almost equally with the South during the last 24 hours. Normal conditions prevailed from Denver to the Pacific.

In New York Chicago and other large centers, hundreds of thousands flocked to the beaches for relief. Many residents of Chicago deserted their homes to sleep in lake front parks during the night.

There were numerous "freak" accidents due to the heat. John H. Sweeney, a salesman, fell two floors while crawling about the roof of a Peoria, Ill., hotel in search of a cool place to sleep. He was not seriously hurt. Red Van, an Indian-

Assign New Police Beats

Officers To Change Beats Every Two Weeks In Future

NEW PLAN WILL START SATURDAY

Effective Saturday, the new system of rotating beats of the police officers of the city will be inaugurated by Chief of Police John F. Haven. He made known today the beats that have been assigned in the first two weeks of this changed method of policing the city.

The beats of the officers will be changed every two weeks. The present plans is to have each officer take the beat, next highest in number, numbers having been assigned to each beat, each successful two weeks, until the entire group of beats has been covered by each patrolman of the city.

Due to the fact that the vacation season is on, no change in assignment has been made at this time in the beats of James Hagan, Richard Cooper and John Golis, who have been working the seventh ward district.

One beat on which no change is planned at the present time is that dontown beat between Mill and Mercer streets and which Officer Joseph Greer has been in charge for years. It is a special beat and Officer Greer works from 10 p. m. to 6 a. m. each night.

Plan Announced

The officers in charge of the force on each of the three turns are: First, John F. Haven, chief; Second, Lieutenant Peter Hillers, and Third, Captain J. Ed Elder.

The office force on the first of day turn will consist of the desk sergeant, one of the two detectives with Officers John Moore and Thomas Lynch as drivers.

The second turn from 4 p. m. to 12 o'clock midnight will have as its office force a desk sergeant, two drivers and a detective.

The third turn will have a desk sergeant and driver.

City detectives C. C. Horner and John Young will continue to alternate every two weeks on the day or first turn and second or four p. m. to midnight turn. The same is true of Sergeants James P. Stein-

WINSTON SALEM, N. C., July 15.—The next move in the Smith Reynolds murder mystery today awaited the return from abroad of dashing Dick Reynolds, elder brother of the slain 20-year-old scion of a famous tobacco family.

Richard J. Reynolds was not expected to return here until late next week, according to Stratton Coyner, secretary of his uncle, W. N. Reynolds.

The elder Reynolds was cruising off the African coast when he received word that his brother was found dead with a bullet hole through his head on the sleeping porch of his home.

Dick Reynolds is the titular head of the family inasmuch as his father and mother have been dead for years.

Await Family Conference

When he returns there will be a family conference and a decision reached as to whether a reward will be offered for information leading to the arrest of the slayer of Smith Reynolds and whether private detectives should be employed to aid Sheriff Transou Scott in his investigation.

France Gets Two Shocks As Aftermath Of Lausanne Agreement

HOOVER'S LETTER PLAIN WARNING

French Premier Declares He Didn't Make Any Statement

(International News Service)

By ARNO DOSCH-FLEUROT
International News Service Staff Correspondent

PARIS, July 15— France awakened today to two shocks and a mystery.

The shocks were these:

1—The treaty of Lausanne did not settle the question of German reparation permanently. If a satisfactory solution of the war debts issue is not reached, there will be another conference.

2—The United States will not deal under Duress with a United Europe on war debts or will the American people submit to pressure from any European combination.

Mystery Arises

The mystery was this:

Who caused Premier Herriot to be misquoted in the press of the world to the effect that England and France, were bound by their new entente not to deal separately with Washington on war debt: how did parliamentary committee before which the premier discussed the entene get the same idea?

The premier maintains that the words put in his mouth by correspondents of his own and other countries were pure inventions so it is

London Papers Remain Silent

Make No Comment On President Hoover's Statement On Debts

GREAT BRITAIN IN FALSE LIGHT?

By LINTON WELLS
International News Service Staff Correspondent

LONDON, July 15—President Hoover's letters to Senator Borah, warning that the United States would resist combined European pressure for debt revision, was printed today with no editorial comment.

The afternoon papers also refrained from editorialializing on the subject and government spokesmen preserved silence.

The feeling in official circles is that Premier Herriot of France put Great Britain in a false light by his reported statement to a chamber of deputies committee that the two powers had agreed to act in concert on the war debt issue. It was pointed out that the British government acted with unusual speed yesterday in correcting an erroneous impression by giving out a published statement on the subject.

Missouri Man Is Victim Of "Gyp"

Long Hike From Missouri To Philadelphia Avails Nothing But Aching Feet

PHILADELPHIA, July 15—With a knapsack slung from a sunburned neck, Otis Grisamer walked all the way from Cora, Mo., in the Ozarks to Philadelphia to claim his 'share" of the fabulous $800,000,000 Baker estate.

The estate has long been a bait for the gullible.

Grisamer said he had paid dues, with 500 other Ozark farmers to the "heirs' association" which told them they were progeny of Col. Jacob Baker, Revolutionary leader who owned much of what is now Philadelphia.

Otis started walking back to the Ozarks today—to organize a posse.

Ziegfeld Ill; In Sanatorium

(International News Service)

HOLLYWOOD, July 15.—Florenz Ziegfeld, theatrical producer, today was seriously ill in a New Mexico sanatorium, his pretty wife, Billie Burke, actress, disclosed.

Ziegfeld's illness borders on a breakdown from overwork on his last Follies show, Miss Burke said, and resulted also from a pneumonia attack suffered last year.

Miss Burke declined to reveal the location of the sanatorium in order that Ziegfeld might not be disturbed by messages from anxious friends.

Senators Meet With President On Relief Bill

Hoover Says He Does Not Approve Publicity For R. F. C. Loans

WILL NOT VETO BILL, HOWEVER

Believe National Relief Bill Is Near To Final Approval

By WILLIAM S. NEAL
International News Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, July 15.—President Hoover informed senatorial conferees on the $2,122,000,000 relief bill today that while he is opposed to that provision which would make public the R. F. C. loans he would not veto the measure because of it.

The President had an hour's conference this morning with the senate conferees, which was also attended by the officers of the Reconstruction Finance Corporation and Secretary of the Treasury Mills.

President's Attitude

The President's position concerning the publicity provision was outlined in a brief statement issued from the White House after the session.

It follows:

"The President stated it was his policy to give the fullest publicity to all government activities, but he wished congress to be fully apprised in view of the unusual emergency situation and of the unique relation of the R. ### RAIN!

And This Is St. Swithin's Day

It was raining outside.

And this is St. Swithin's Day.

Those two facts, combined, materialize (or etherealize) into a 1,000-year-old tradition. St. Swithin's Day, according to the legend, governs the weather of the next six weeks. Rain on this day means 40 days of rain, while a fair July 15 is sure to bring 40 days of unbroken sunshine.

But New Castle folk take the old tradition with a grain of salt. They know that St. Swithin isn't the most reliable old chap in the world and that his previous records don't help his reputation much.

This year, however, the U. S. weather bureau sides right in with St. Swithin (or vice versa). The bureau believes that, from a scientific standpoint, we will have plenty of rain during the next 40 days. Not because St. Swithin says so, but just because a wet swing is due.

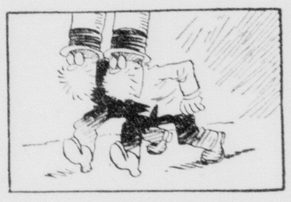

There you are.

St. Swithin says rain.

Washington weather boys say rain.

So be a good Girl Scout and be prepared.

GAS AND SMOKE DRILLS AT MT. GRETNA

Guardsmen Have Smoke Drill In Mt. Gretna Camp

State National Guards Non-Coms Are Given Taste Of Real Warfare

INSPECTION DUE TOMCRROW

Army Officers Instruct Guardsmen On Getting Through Tear Gas Clouds

(International News Service)

CAMP O'NEIL, MT. GRETNA, Pa., July 15.—Non-commissioned officers of the 56th Infantry Brigade under command of Brigadier General Robert H. Brookfield of Philadelphia got a taste of real warfare here today as groups of them were ordered through dense clouds of smoke and tear gas.

Due to the expense of staging smoke and gas screens only non-commissioned officers were tried. It was a lucky day for the privates, for their experience in the art of chemical warfare came second-handed from their squad and platoon commanders.

Masks Inspected.

Before they were allowed to enter the gassed area, Major Lewis F. Acker, chemical warfare officer of the 28th Division, carefully inspected gas masks and instructed the men in the use of gas and smoke as instruments of war. The guardsmen learned how to construct gas proof dugouts, to clear mustard gas out of trenches, to place and light smoke screens, and to set off rifle gas grenades and infantry candles.

They went through the smoke and tear gas in units of 50 men, To most of the guardsmen it was a new experience. First through were soldiers of the 111th Infantry Regiment from Philadelphia and nearby eastern Pennsylvania cities under the leadership of Captain Walter A. Linn of Bristol, regimental gas officer. They were closely followed by western Pennsylvanians of the 112th Infantry under Captain Thomas E. Briggs of Butler.

Numerous Schools.

An interesting feature of the National Guard is the numerous schools for army specialists. Daily classes are held for buglers, horseshoers, company clerks, cooks, supply officers, medical officers, mess sergeants, and for instructors in the rifle, pistol, machine gun, howitzers marksmanship and many others.

Howitzer companies of the two infantry regiments, under the direction of Col. William H. Zierdt of Harrisburg, used a new target, a canvas bag painted to represent an enemy tank. They scored several direct hits with their one-pound solid shots, and twice cut the rope that held it near the ground.

The first week of training in the field will come to a close tomorrow with a show-down inspection. Every article of the soldier's equipment must be laid out for inspection by officers of the regular army.

Governor Is Observer

CAMP O'NEIL, MT. GRETNA, Pa., July 15.—Gov. Gifford Pinchot, commander-in-chief of the Pennsylvania National Guard, made an observation tour of the training area here today.

The Governor motored from Harrisburg last night and "turned in" under canvas with the troops. Major General William G. Price, Jr., commander of the 28th division, and David J. Davis, adjutant, welcomed him to division headquarters.

Welcoming opportunities to escape the heat of the Capital, the Executive every summer spends several nights at the guard encampment, occupying the big ten on Division Hill which is always kept ready for him.

Several members of his cabinet were to arrive here later today to make a motor tour of the Reservation and to review the troops.

One of the very interesting sights of this city this summer was the blue hydrangea bush on the William Park property, 1312 Hamilton street. Over 300 of the beautiful blue flowers were in bloom on this one huge bush a short time ago. Many of the blooms have left now, but in the prime of the season they certainly were unusual.

Somewhere in the city today there is a mature man who is nursing a nicely discolored eye. Pa Newc saw him essay to serve as utility catcher for a mushball game for a gang of boys last night. Everything went all right until one of the youngsters made a "foul tip." The ball landed squarely on the optic of the catcher. He retired from the game at once.

UNITED STATES REFUSES TO BE FORCED IN ISSUE

probable that the mystery which is puzzling the people of France as well as the diplomats of England will never be solved.

French Silent

French officialdom was silent today over the official assertion in London that the Anglo-French accord applies to European debts and not to the $11,000,000,000 which the allies owe to the United States. It is not expected that any denial of the British statement will be issued.

The outstanding feature of the internation situation here was the letter sent by President Hoover to Senator Borah. This was taken as a plain warning to Europe that the United States reserved the right to deal individually with her debtors and would not tolerate pressure by any group of nations.

The statement of President Hoover that the United States had not been consulted in the negotiations dealing to the treaty of Lausanne was a sharp surprise to the general public. Which had accepted as true various diplomats' intimations that America had participated in the Lausanne conference.

By HOBART C. MONTEE
International News Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, July 15.—State department officials stood on guard today, prepared to intercept a possible rebound of the football of European debts which President Hoover kicked deep back into European territory.

His letter to Senator Borah (R) of Idaho, chairman of the senate foreign relations committee, was considered a blunt, definite pronouncement of this government's attitude toward the celebrated "gentlemen's agreement" signed at Lausanne and the subsequent entente cordiale negotiated by Great Britain and France and joined in by Italy and Belgium. The president said bluntly the United States was not a party to those agreements; that this government would not be forced into any line of action or negotiation by any agreements or combinations for joint action which the European governments might form.

Have Not Budged.

While Mr. Hoover did not specifically say so, his letter implied that this government had not budged from its long-held stand that it will not negotiate with its European debtors except singly and then only upon the specific request of each individual government concerned.

He did not close the door to negotiations with the European debtor nations regarding readjustment of their obligations on a basis of capacity to pay. The administration is officially on record with a promise to give friendly consideration to individual requests for such negotiations.

Officials here believe, however, that the president did close the door to attempts by the European nations, by united action, to pass on to the United States the sacrifices in reparations payments which Germanys' creditor nations had foresworn.

PROBE OF REYNOLDS' DEATH IS AWAITING RETURN OF BROTHER

a verdict of death by a person or persons unknown, the sheriff has unearthed several promising leads which call for a detailed checkup in New York and other cities.

Sheriff Scott, being virtually a "one man" investigating office has not the facilities or the funds to make a far-flung inquiry into the case.

Citizens of Winston Salem, who claim to know the character of the elder brother, predict that when Richard Reynolds does return he will pledge his time and fortune to running down the murderer or murderers of his younger brother.

Aside from the return of the eldest heir to the R. J. Reynolds tobacco millions, no definite development was anticipated before the convening of a new grand jury on July 25.

Meanwhile, Ab Walker, friend of the dead boy and held during the inquest as a material witness, was living quietly with his parents here. He declined to be interviewed.

Mrs. Libby Holman Reynolds, Broadway singing star and widow of the slain boy, remained in seclusion in Cincinnati.

Slaying Victim Is Taken From River

Police Believe Man Taken From River At New Kensington Was Slain

(International News Service)

NEW KENSINGTON, Pa., July 15 The body of a middle-aged man who police believe may have been slain was recovered from the Allegheny river at the New Kensington bridge today.

The body was brought to shore by Hugh MacInnes, 22, who dived into the stream.

Police said the man had $23 in currency in his pockets. Identification labels had been removed from his clothing.

The only clues to his identity were the monogrammed letter "A" on his handdkerchief and a necktie bearing the label of the Dick Thompson store, Iana, Pa.

Examination of the body revealed an abrasion on the left side of the head and an injury to the left eye, police said.

USEFUL SOUP BONE

A soup bone is really worth its weight—if not in gold, then silver. For at small cost, it will give the basis for a whole meal. Wash it well, then put over fire in cool water, bring to a boil, and simmer for several hours. Season and add minced vegetables, noodles or rice, and serve in wide old-fashioned soup plates.

Small Business Men Aroused

Prosecution Under Fictitious Names Act Brings Much Protest

Indignation was prevalent today among small business men from various parts of the county when brought before Alderman W. E. Marshall on charges of violating the Fictitious Names Act of 1917. Upon payment of the costs many of them were released but there is a possibility that some of the cases will be appealed.

Attorney Robert M. White represents some of the defendants and he indicated today that he intended to take cases to county court from the alderman's court.

Under the Act of 1917 it is necessary that every business, operated under a name other than that of the owner, must be registered with the prothonotary of the county and the secretary of the Commonwealth. This applies to all business whether it be a large concern or a small sandwich stand.

PYMATUNING FUND INTACT

INDICATIONS from Harrisburg that the state legislature in special session will make no cut in the original Pymatuning Dam appropriation, but that the total amount designated will be allowed for completion of this work will bring commendation for the state legislators from the entire Western Pennsylvania area.

As declared in this newspaper when the idea of cutting the fund was first broached at Harrisburg, it would have been an unsupportable proposition to have cut down on the Pymatuning Dam fund. This project is one of the very few in the state that is actually doing something tangible for relief of the unemployed, and at the same time netting the state; and the Western Pennsylvania district, in particular, some return.

Lawrence county's representatives at Harrisburg had no little share in the battle that was waged against the Pymatuning dam cut, and they are deserving of credit for their successful efforts.

Retrenchment in many state expenditures is justified at this time, and can be made without extensive reaction, but cutting down the Pymatuning dam fund is not one of them.

FARM MANAGEMENT PAYS

Farm management improvements have produced average gains of $1,265 a year for six years in the net incomes of 25 central Illinois farms, the University of Illinois agricultural college reports.

Included in the first group of "paying practices" are: Fitting machinery to particular farm needs, co-operative ownership of equipment, repairing machinery at home in slack periods, and avoiding an excess of power and labor.

In the second group immediate increases in income were found possible through using high yielding seeds, testing seeds for germination, growing higher-profit crops and "forming the habit of timeliness."

Paying practices that require more time or expense include using limestone where needed, keeping much land in legumes, providing good drainage, keeping high producing livestock and using scientific crop rotation.—The Rockford Register-Republic.

THE TAXATION BASE

Justification for the broadening of the federal tax base is found in the internal revenue collections for the last fiscal year. Chiefly responsible for the slump to a billion and a half is the fact that the national government has leaned too heavily on corporate and individual income taxes, which failed to produce last year.

The financial distress in which the government has found itself argues for sharp reductions in government costs, but should Washington, due to the system or the indispensable nature of the services rendered, find it impossible to bring expenditures down to the reduced tax capacity of the people the present policy of broadening the tax base shall of necessity become permanent.

When conditions return to normal congress should hesitate before returning to the old order entirely. The more vexatious of the nuisance taxes should be repealed of course, but as soon as the rank and file of consumers are able to support it, some kind of a modified sales tax should supplement the income taxes to provide a stabilized revenue.

Under the old system there is too great temptation in flush years to governmental extravagance and in lean years too much need for violent readjustment.

OPTIMISM IN THE WEST

So long has pessimism reigned in the Middle West, where the depression struck years sooner than it did in the industrial East, that when a cautious sort of optimism shows its head everyone holds his breath for fear of blowing out the fluttering flame. That is the case at this moment.

Hog prices have risen, cattle prices are up, and both wheat and corn are slowly but steadily gaining. Agriculture, the chronic invalid, is lifting the buying power of almost half the people from the bottom of the economic canyon.

It isn't that the improved market is artificial and therefore will not stand the light of day. There are convincing facts to bolster the hopes of the confident. The loan pressure which forced cattle onto the market a year ago has been relieved. Hog prices have been raised to lure an adequate supply into the market, and the wheat and corn yields carry no threat of a surplus.

The farm board has been virtually forced out of the market, and oddly enough the Middle West for whose special purposes the board was created is said to be giving a sigh of relief. It is contended that instead of forcing up the market the farm board, because of its grain surpluses, has been weighing down the grain markets for two years. Now that the surpluses have approached the vanishing point and the farm board is through as a factor in the market there is a degree of optimism.

"THEY GET THEIR MAN"

Recent search by a posse in Saskatchewan for the slayers of a member of the royal Canadian mounted police recalls the famous saying "The 'Mounties' always get their man." In this the Canadian organization is a rival of the famous Scotland Yard, the terror of all criminals in England.

Whether the 'mounties' sometimes fail is beside the question. In nearly every case they have found their prey, or at least such is the general belief.

And in this alone is something of inestimable value. The criminal dealing with a police force that has a reputation for weakness, for failure to attain its goal, is emboldened thereby. He plies his trade with increasing vigor.

For he is encouraged by the law of chance; by the established probability he will escape punishment.

Where, as with Scotland Yard or the 'mounties', the police are known as determined pursuers of lawbreakers, never forgetting, never forgiving, the situation is different. The man tempted to do wrong is more inclined to weigh the risks involved.

Save when, in the heat of passion, he commits a crime, he is likely to let the opportunity pass rather than to take a chance.

The comparatively few major crimes in Canada bear a direct relation to the royal mounted police. Year after year, generation after generation, the members of the organization have shown a dogged determination to "get their man"; have displayed ability in solving crimes and in obtaining irrefutable evidence of the guilt of their prisoners.

Their latest venture attracts attention chiefly because people in general feel they will succeed. That is the normal course with them.

Remember when the only summer problem in Washington was the selection of a summer white house?

You Walk a Stony Trail
Reach a Green Place
And Feel at Home

By MARSHALL MASLIN

You toil along the trail.

Bending your back beneath a load you make your weary way along an unfamiliar path.

The sun beats mercilessly down upon you. You thirst and you hunger and the way is long and you fear it will be endless. You have not eaten since morning, you will not eat again until sunset. The dust rises from the trail and chokes you. You are tired and you stumble and fall and bruise yourself on that rocky trail. If you were a child you would cry and ask to be carried. . . . You wish you hadn't come and you wonder if you will ever see home again. It is so far away, over so many hills, beyond so many arduous miles.

The trail goes on before you, and you follow. You see a great tree far ahead and you fix your eyes on that. It stands on the crest of the hill and when you reach that point you'll be able to look back and see the long, rocky road you have conquered. . . . On you go. . . . And at last you lift yourself over a great boulder and come to a green and level place and find your great tree and throw yourself by a pool and drink a little and then lie prostrate, chest heaving, muscles slack, eyes closed in weariness.

But after a while you look around. Here is a rugged beauty. The clouds are so white. The sky is so blue. That little lake so far below is bluer still. The grass is so green. The aspens in the meadow quiver in the delicate breeze. And in the meadow are small flowers you are sure you never saw before.

And yet, it all seems so familiar. Deep within you stirs a rising certainty that you HAVE been here before. It is like an old home to you. Sometime, somewhere, you saw all this. You struggled and won and arrived at this blessed peace some time before. . . . It is a part of you, a comfort you lose and find and lose and find again. Surely this is no dream, surely you have known this comforting beauty at another time.

It is a common experience, this. To be somewhere and to feel that you have been there before, to come into an hour of living that is as familiar as your own remembered childhood. . . . You cannot explain it, but you know that it happens and you are sure it has some deeper, subtler meaning than any you can imagine.

Here is something for the "Pacifists" to think about. It is something that France cannot forget and something to which all European Powers cannot be indifferent.

Germany still prefers motion picture films idolizing army life.

Military films showing the romantic and comic side of regimental life are registering huge successes throughout Germany. The people seem to be longing for pre-war days when they possessed the mightiest army in Europe.

Pacifist plays have recently been replaced in popular esteem by military ones bearing such titles as "The Merry War", "Victoria and Her Hussar" and "Hussar's Fever."

"I have lost everything," he said,
And sat him down to sigh.
I understood his look of dread,
His sorrow-stricken eye.
I waited through his weeping spell
Then asked him: "Are your children well?

"And did you kiss your wife goodbye
This morning as you left?
'Lost everything!' you faintly cry.
Of them are you bereft?
Did you not see the green trees sway
Above you in the breeze today?

"What is it time has swept away
And leaves you now so sad?
Some bright coins in a happier day
You merely thought you had;
Figures on paper, good to boast,
Which bank accountants daily post.

"And if perchance they write in red
Or if the ink be black,
The same sun glistens overhead,
July brings roses back.
At home for you the children wait.
And yet 'lost everything' you state."

One will be able to hear plenty of war whoops, and maybe an occasional rebel yell.

Yet you would grin with delight if Rockefeller should find his pockets empty and ask you for two bits.

WHY SHOULD THE KING AVOID WASTE OF MONEY IF HE CAN GET MORE BY STRIPPING THE PEASANTS?

This nation was founded as a protest against taxes. The patriots of the Revolution took up arms to save their pocketbooks.

Yet every generation from that time until the present has endured an increase in the burden of taxation, and not one has made intelligent or determined effort to prevent the looting of its property.

Americans are indeed a docile people. They are as meekly dumb as sheep led to the slaughter.

Taxation, like other evils, escapes public condemnation by adjusting its increase to the increase of public tolerance.

If automobiles had killed fifty thousand people the first year they were manufactured, not one of them could have escaped the wrath of a horrified world.

If the whole present burden of taxation had been forced on the people during any one year prior to 1914, no power under Heaven could have prevented a revolution.

Do you realize that one-fourth of the money earned by the people and the property of this nation is required to pay the expenses of government?

Do you realize that one person in each eleven derives all or part of his income from the public treasury?

Never before the year 1917 did any Congress dare appropriate as much as a billion dollars. In 1916 only three-quarters of a billion was required for all fixed charges and all operating expenses. Yet this year the fixed charges—the burden that cannot be lightened—will be 1,699 million, and operating costs more than 2,662 million.

That is the cost of Federal Government alone, and the cost of State, county and municipal governments is greater still.

How long will people endure it?

There are bonded debts, interests charges and other fixed obligations that must be met. Most of these burdens are the result of foolish or criminal extravagance, but there is no honest way to evade them.

But all other expenses can be reduced. To say reduction is impossible is childish and stupid.

There are many "necessities" that extravagant people can't do without while they have money or credit, but they somehow contrive to live on bread and water when they can obtain nothing more.

Do you enjoy forcing your family to economize in order to provide money for public servants to waste?

Roosevelt's Forest Scheme Creates Issue Of State Duty

Campaign For Development Of Timber Lands Favored By Public But Value As Means Of Furnishing Employment Is Subject Of Debate

National interest has been aroused by the suggestion from Governor Roosevelt, in his speech of acceptance of the Democratic nomination for President, that the nation should employ a bond issue for reforestation as a means of furnishing jobs. The criticism by Secretary Hyde of the Department of Agriculture, that the extent of such work would be limited by present facilities and that it would offer inadequate results in employment, is made the basis of debate. Some objections are made to having such a scheme a federal, instead of state, project.

Pointing out that "out of our total original forest area of some 900,000,000 acres, only about half remains even nominally forested and only 30 per cent is still virgin," the BALTIMORE EVENING SUN (Ind. Dem.) reminds us that "if the present situation is allowed to continue, some experts have estimated, a timber famine is inevitable in about 25 years." The Sun observes that "reforestation has been practiced in Europe for several centuries," and declares that "it is acknowledged in many responsible quarters that this country has been too slow to recognize the economic value of reforestation." The COLUMBIA (MO.) TRIBUNE (Dem.) likewise feels that "rehabilitating the forests of the country is universally regarded as one of its problems."

Strongly supporting the plan of Governor Roosevelt is the ATLANTA JOURNAL (Dem.), which sees in it "the most timely and far-sighted economics." The Journal argues: "Here in Georgia we have millions of acres of cut-over and abandoned lands which yield their owners no profit and the state no appreciable revenue. They are not suitable for agriculture and not needed therefor. Yet, if put to producing timber, they would become in the course of a few decades a base of supply for important industries and a source of new prosperity for the commonwealth. Just how this can be done on a broad scale is a question for progressive business and practical statesmanship. But we have ample evidences both here and elsewhere that timber growing pays early as well as later dividends. It is the sensible solution to many problems of farming, manufacturing, tax relief and tax income."

On the other side of the fence is the DES MOINES TRIBUNE (Ind. Rep.), with its assertion: "Any intelligent person would know immediately that there is no chance of providing early jobs for a million men in any conceivable plan of tree planting. If over a period of a dozen years a million men were given work, it would have to be in short periods. And Secretary Hyde has the New York figures. In that state, he says, the program of reforesting one million acres in 15 years at a cost of about twenty millions employs the equivalent of 279 men on a permanent basis. A national program would cost a hundred times as much—two billions—and the number of men steadily employed would amount to 27,900, on the basis of New York experience, the secretary says."

"Secretary Hyde, with his figures," thinks the CHARLESTON (W. VA.) DAILY MAIL (Ind. Rep.), "seems to have shattered completely the governor's reforestation dream. He didn't deal in generalities but cold facts susceptible of proof." The BUFFALO EVENING NEWS (Ind. Rep.) also voices the criticism: "The timber grown would not be suitable for marketing in less than 25 years. If the government were to employ 1,000,000 men at $750,000,000 a year for 25 years, the expense would run to $18,750,000,000 before a cent of revenue was returned. Moreover, there would not be land enough on the continent to keep 1,000,000 men planting trees for 25 years even if they substituted hand work for machines.'

Among the journals approving the reforestation plan is the ESCANABA DAILY PRESS (Rep.), representing one of the great timber belts, which asserts that the Roosevelt idea "is looked upon with favor in the upper peninsula of Michigan." With the explanation that "the thousands of acres which have reverted to the state and upon which no taxes are being paid, not only have ceased to be productive, but constitute a menace to the remaining timberlands," while "in the old slashings, the dried tops and the growth of grasses are an ever present fire hazard." The Press declares that "for a number of years reforestation has been discussed by upper peninsula leaders as the only means of turning increasing state liability into an asset." Pointing out that "reforestation on a small scale has been tried by schools, by counties and by the State," the Michigan paper concludes: "Such efforts have met with a degree of success that gives assurance that a larger effort would be successful."

Holding that "Texas is among the states that would profit from a greatly extended reforestation program," the DALLAS JOURNAL (Ind. Dem.) comments: "There are few of the states in which any progress in reforestation has been made in recent years which would not benefit from an extension of the program many times in its present scope. With enlargement of nurseries, increase in their number, the gathering and sowing of seeds from the forests, and the transplantation of seedlings, constructive employment could be given many thousands of men over a period of years, and their well-directed labors would safeguard the nation against a later timber famine, devastating floods and denudation of productive soil."

Quite aside from the economic aspects of reforestation as a national undertaking, the question of whether it is properly a federal project is raised by a number of papers. Among these is the CHICAGO DAILY NEWS (Ind.). Admitting that "Secretary Hyde was not happy in his hasty attack on Governor Roosevelt's program", and that "plainly, he overlooked the preliminary job of clearing the ground for planting and many other tasks connected with reforestation." The News states: "Had the secretary of agriculture taken time and trouble to think about the Roosevelt reforestation program doubtless he would have discovered a really weighty and sound objection to advance against it. Though reforestation is a wise and indeed an indispensable policy, Governor Roosevelt has not shown that it is a policy within the proper sphere of the federal government. Certain states in the union, New York among them, as Governor Roosevelt himself point out with pardonable pride, are engaged in reforestation work to their own great advantage. What some of the states do, and find it profitable to do, other states should find equally feasible and profitable. There is no reason why the national government should take up reforestation on a larger scale, or why it should go into partnership with the states for the purpose."

Similarly, in discussing the soundness of the plan for reforestation paid for by bonds, the SAN FRANCISCO CHRONICLE (Ind. Rep.) raises certain questions as to what agency should undertake such a plan in its comment: "The answer is Governor Roosevelt's own boast that New York is already doing it. So are Pennsylvania and North Carolina. But half of the states east of the Mississippi and most of them west of it cannot. Shall the whole nation issue bonds and a small part of it receive all the benefit? Or is this essentially localized project one which must be done, as it is being done, locally? Moreover, since most of this land is in private ownership, who shall buy it and who shall own it?"

The NEW YORK TIMES (Ind.) discusses the policical phase of the matter with the statement: "When Secretary Hyde came out with ridicule of the Roosevelt plan for a million men planting trees on millions of acres, the governor announced that he would not make an answer. Indeed, he implied that he had adopted a rule, good for the whole campaign, that he would reply to no Republican speeches except those that might be made by President Hoover himself. "However, Commissioner Morgan thau promptly came forward to argue that the charges made by Secretary Hyde merely showed his ignorance about the whole question of reforestation. If the secretary would only come to Albany and study the thing at first hand, he might profitably 'enlarge his knowledge'."

DESIRE AND ABILITY

Said a music teacher who is not dependent upon her teaching to make a living: "Where are the children who are in earnest to be able to play well? Real talent and a desire to work hard enough to get it, not money, buys instruction."

About one in fifty who start have the musical ability and the character combined, to pursue any subject, particularly music, to a worthwhile degree.

This is the opinion of a person who has been teaching many years.

Yet there are many who wonder why people with money to invest do not take kindly to suggestions that they help young musicians get an education.

Young folk think that they want education along a certain line and help should be forthcoming.

Perhaps their parents think the same thing.

It takes more than a desire and an "I should think," to make a hard headed business man see it as an investment.

Probably the financier had to work out his own salvation.

He had to think hard and be willing to sacrifice desires to a purpose.

Many of the young folk who want to play think it would be easier sitting on a piano bench listening to themselves turn out tunes, than other work.

It sounds easy but it takes real character when done from choice.

Invents Boat Which Flies

Speed Boat Leaves Water And Soars Through Air As Speed Increases

By WILLIAM J. KELLY
International News Service Staff Correspondent

PITTSBURGH, July 15—Modern science, which has made highways an endless chain of machines and dotted the atmosphere with mechanical birds capable of soaring to the far corners of the earth, has turned to water for its latest conquest. And the most recent achievement produces the question, "When is a boat not a boat?"

The answer to this riddle is given by Dr. Oskar Tietjens, research engineer at Westinghouse electric in Pittsburgh, in the nature of a new speed boat. For want of a better name, it may be termed the "water skimmer", because that is exactly what it does.

At low speeds, the craft cuts thru water in the ordinary manner but as its velocity is increased it rises from the surface and literally flies thru space. At a distance it assumes the appearance of a seaplane taking off from the choppy waters of a stream, but in reality it is nothing more than a boat.

The lifting and flying characteristics result from the simple application of two narrow strips of steel extending crosswise under the hull and attached to protruding arms fastened to the boat. These steel strips, also known as stream-lined planes, resemble the wings of an airplane. They force the boat out of the water in proportion to its speed and at a certain velocity the entire craft is elevated and slipping along gently on the water's surface.

As the speed is decreased, the boat gradually sinks back into its former position in the water and once again its passengers are able to dip their hands into the rolling waves as they splash by.

"WHY GIRLS LEAVE HOME" EXPLAINED

ST. LOUIS, July 15—A study of "why girls leave home," made by the Big Sisters' Organization here, has refuted the old idea they seek the bright lights and adventures of the cities.

A study of 121 cases showed: Twenty-nine left poverty stricken homes to earn money to help support the family; 14 left because of ill treatment of a step-mother or step-father.

Eighteen left home because of strict discipline of their parents; 11 because their foreign-born parents didn't approve of their modern way of living.

Only nine said they left to seek adventure.

Which Gasolines Knock the most?

*Electric Ear REVEALS THE TRUE KNOCK-RATING OF 16 RIVAL GASOLINES IN ACTUAL ROAD TEST

New TYDOL winner over 16 gasolines in first scientific anti-knock road test!

Even the engineers have never known which gasolines knocked most, or least—on the road.

For laboratory octane tests won't stand up—on the road.

But when science perfected this new super-sensitive Sound Meter, it created a new way, a true way, to measure knocking—on the road.

For the first time, 16 rival gasolines told their true stories . . . while the Electric Ear listened in . . . and recorded every ping and pound.

And every knock was a boost for the New TYDOL — winner in every test. First in anti-knock quality. And first in power, too. For the less a gas knocks the more power it develops, as every motorist knows.

Try it. Check its power and anti-knock. Compare it with any gasoline at any price. You don't need a month. Or a week. One day's driving, or even a single trip, will sell you 100% on the New TYDOL, and keep you sold.

Veteran Steel Man Sees Silver Lining

PITTSBURGH, July 15.—Take it from Willis L. King, 82, senior vice president of the Jones & Laughlin Steel Corp., there's a silver lining in the business clouds.

Depressions, says King, are just incidents in his life. The steel magnate, identified with that industry 63 years, has seen them all since 1869, big and little, and has survived every one with a smile and greater determination. Here's what he says about the present dislocation of business:

"No, sir, I never saw a time when we were running as low as we are at the plant right now, but we'll come out of it and come out bigger than ever.

"The trouble with us in this depression is that we have the worries of all Europe and everybody else on our shoulders along with our own. We never had to worry about Europe's troubles before."

Welfare, Educational Groups Urged To Focus Attention On The Wandering Youth

By FREDERICK C. CROXTON
Assistant Director of President's Organization on Unemployment Relief

Thousands of young men and boys this year have found themselves stranded in distant communities among strangers and with absolutely no prospect of a job.

It is general information that opportunities for work are no better in distant cities than they are at home. Practically every community has the definite policy of taking care of its own residents first, both in employment and relief.

Young men who start out without funds searching for jobs meet this difficulty on every hand. Before they are able to find any way to return to their home and friends they often suffer almost unbearable hardships. Moreover, these young men who in their home communities have always been held in high regard, are often looked upon with suspicion as undesirable characters in these communities to which they have drifted. They would be assured of far better consideration in their home towns than among strangers when better employment opportunities open up.

The problem of these thousands of drifting and footsore young men must be met through every possible channel. They must be encouraged and enabled to remain in their own communities among those who are most interested in their welfare. It may be well worth while to carefully examine present activities to see if every resource is being thoroughly utilized and to determine the possibility of expanding existing community services to wider usage.

The President's organization on unemployment relief urgently hopes that welfare and educational groups throughout the country will help focus attention upon this problem and develop whatever local activities may seem best calculated to achieve the results desired.

Brazilian Planes Go Into Action In Fight With Rebels

(International News Service)

BUENOS AIRES, July 15.—Government bombing planes were sent into action today against the southern Brazilian rebels at the town of Cruziero, according to border dispatches received here.

The dispatches also revealed a clash between loyal and rebel forces at Itatiaya station, the Federals capturing the town after a serious fight.

At Cruziero the government planes bombed the tracks before a rebel troop train, forcing the train to stop. The rebels fled for their lives, dispersing in disorder.

Unconfirmed reports received thru Montevideo, Uruguay, asserted a military revolt had broken out in the state of Rio Grande De Sul, with federal troops joining the revolt against the regime of Provisional President Getulio Vargas.

Rio Grande De Sul is the home state of Vargas, and it has been said that the government sorely needed the support of this province.

Aged Man Finds Lost Son After 57,000-Mile Search

(International News Service)

LONDON, July 15—A 57,000 mile hunt finally brought W. H. Gifford, 64-year old retired pilot, in touch with his long-lost son, missing since the war.

Directly after the war his son, Percy, was smitten with the wanderlust and went off alone for an unknown destination. After failing to get in touch with him, Gifford returned months later empty-handed.

The ambition to find the errant Percy became the father's life-purpost. Last November, convinced that he was still alive, he set out for Australia, against the advice of his friends.

Three false trails led him to "Percy Giffords", but none of them was his son. Finally, an old friend in Brisbane provided a clue.

Another 1,500-mile journey to the small mining town of Mt. Isa, and there he found him.

Terrible hardships had changed the boy, and he related that at one time he had not slept in a bed for four years.

Extensive Experiments Being Made At Hershey To Develope Native Potato

(International News Service)

HERSHEY, Pa., July 15—Pennsylvania farmers may soon be able to grow disease-free potatoes if experiments being carried on here are successful.

Said to comprise the most extensive project of its kind ever undertaken by the state, the experiments have been launched to save Pennsylvania's potato crop from the staggering toll of plant diseases.

The vocational agricultural department of the Hershey vocational school, Pennsylvania State college, Dauphin county farm bureau and the Hershey estates are cooperating in the project under the direction of B. A. Rockwell, agricultural teacher in the Hershey school and Dr. E. L. Nixon of the college.

Dr. Nixon said Pennsylvania's potato industry was threatened because the tubers deteriorate rapidly when planted in most sections of the state and that production of a home crop was virtually impossible because of the prevalence of plant diseases.

The experiments will be directed toward breeding a variety of potatoes which will withstand the southern Pennsylvania climate with its characteristic plant diseases. Climatic conditions at Hershey were unfavorable for growth of potatoes and hence satisfactory for conducting the experiments.

Should the experiments be successful, the Pennsylvania farmers will be saved the expense of importing hardy brands of expensive potatoes from such distant states as Maine. They will be able to perpetuate a variety which grows best in Pennsylvania soil and under Pennsylvania climatic conditions.

MARSHMALLOW ROAST FEATURES EVENING

Outings of all kinds led to park, stream and woods Thursday, but the members of the L. D. K. Society of Third United Presbyterian church turned their steps toward the home of Keziah Welhausen at Energy on Thursday evening and the evening was most pleasant.

A brief business session disposed of routine matters and then a period of stunts and games on the lawn kept things humming until dark, when a large bonfire was built and about this the group, armed with long forks, cooked a repast of weiners and tosated marshmallows.

Mrs. Marie Burdett and her committee left nothing undone to promote the enjoyment of the evening and plans for a basket picnic were arranged, this event to be held on August 11.

Special guests included Misses Viola Sankey, Theresa Vargo and the hostess' mother.

MARRIED PEOPLE FROLIC AT PARK

Picnics galore filled Cascade park all day long Thursday and one of the most enjoyable of the outings was that of the members of the Married People's class of the Second U. P. church, with 65 sitting down to an elaborate menu at long tables in the grove, which were decorated with lovely summer flowers.

Mrs. J. W. Anderson, Mrs. John Syling and Mrs. Edward Jones were in charge of the menu arrangements and they did a splendid job of it.

Messrs George Wagner and Brooks livened things up when they began their program of games and sports and many delightful surprises were given the children in the group.

Mrs. Frank Patterson of McArthur, O., was an out of town guest.

Form New Club

Mrs. Edward Cross was hostess last evening to a group of friends gathered at her home at 505 South Walnut street. It was a most pleasant evening and those present decided to form a club which will have social meetings, regularly.

Mrs. Cross, assisted by Mrs. Edward Johnson, served a delicious chicken dinner at 10:30. Music and 500 were the interesting pastimes. The hostess' sons, Billy and Richard, entertained with the singing of "Springtime in the Rockies" and "Love Letters in the Sand".

A special meeting will take place at the Cross residence Wednesday evening of next week.

Jollikousins Club

Members of the Jollikousins Club had as special guest, Mrs. Grace Houk of Chester, West Virginia, when they gathered Thursday evening at Cascade Park for a social time. Covers were laid for fifteen at tables decorated in tones of blue and white.

The committee in charge composed Mrs. Twila Miller, Mrs. Gladys Pulford, and Mrs. C. F. Bishop.

After an appetizing dinner had been served, the park concessions were enjoyed.

Pedro Club Entertains

The Independent Pedro Club members met at the home of Mrs. Nick Wick on Morton street, Thursday evening. After the feature entertainment, prizes were given to Mrs. Horne, Mrs. Blanche Lewis and Mrs. Bertha Daugherty. A delicious lunch was served at a late hour by the hostess, with adjournment following.

In four weeks the club will meet again, further announcement to be made.

All Day Outing.

A pleasant day was enjoyed Thursday by the members of Section G of the Y. L. B. class of the Third U. P. church when they went to the home of Mrs. Lizzie Anderson, Weigletown, for an all day outing.

Sewing of quilt patches occupied the morning hours and at noon the table was arranged outside and a delicious menu was served to 14 women.

Thursday, August 4, the women will be guests of Mrs. Campbell at Weigletown.

Coolidge Likes Sales Tax Plan

Former President Reiterates Stand For Sales Tax As Revenue Raising Plan

DISAPPROVES OF PRESENT POLICY

(International News Service)

NEW YORK, July 15.—Former President Calvin Coolidge stood on public record today as an advocate of the sales tax system.

In an article in the current issue of Collier's Weekly, Coolidge asserted this system was far wiser than the "soak the rich" policy, which he regards as a grave threat to American democracy.

The former president's article, in part, reads:

"Many are beginning to wonder if it would not be wise to supplement our present system of taxation by providing that a large number of people should pay a small but certain direct tax.

"The levies on tobacco and gasoline produce a very large revenue, which is not burdensome to the consumer. The extension of such a system to any other commodities would seem to be in complete harmony with the spirit of a self-governing people.

"If it is necessary to meet an emergency, excessively high taxes on a few large incomes and inheritances might be made temporarily without great injury. But to adopt such a system permanently and under the pretense of raising revenue, pursue a policy of ex-propriation and redistribution of wealth would have the gravest consequences.

Safe Crackers Get Money At New Castle Feed And Coal Co.

Force Open Safe And Get Considerable Amount Of Small Change

Police authorities were notified at 7:45 o'clock this morning that the place of business of the New Castle Feed and Coal Company, 1126-28 Moravia street, had been entered during the night. The discovery had been made on opening up for business.

Officers were detailed on the case and found that robbers had forced an entrance by jimmying a rear window.

The office was then entered and the combination was knocked from the safe in that place, the strong box, containing between thirty and fifty dollars in dimes, quarters, and half dollars in rolls and checks, pried from the interior, when the safe was forced open, and taken away.

Nothing else of value was found by the robbers.

TWO HIGHWAY IMPROVEMENTS ARE NOW LIKELY

roads, where demands for damages have been made. The county has always been willing to pay reasonable damages where any real damage has been done, such as taking a man's house or barn, or making a fill or cut in front of buildings that have rendered them inaccessible.

But in many instances damages have been demanded where cuts or fills actually did little or no damage, and where an improved road alone would amply compensate. The disposition of such persons has been to ignore all benefits, although they were very anxious to get the highway past their properties.

In their trip over the road to New Wilmington yesterday, the commissioners found property owners who were not only willing to donate land where slight changes in the roadway were needed, but they were also willing to allow shade trees to be cut down in front of their properties. A like disposition has been manifested along the Pulaski-New Bedford road.

As nothing definite will be done until all the releases have been signed up, property owners can facilitate the work by co-operating as speedily as possible.

The improvements will mean that New Castle will have another improved highway to New Wilmington and Mercer, and that a bad road between Pulaski to New Bedford will be eliminated. The present improved New Wilmington-Pulaski road, ends at Pulaski.

The New Wilmington road will connect with Highland avenue at the end of the city line. This will mean that a short section of street railway tracks will have to torn up, as they extend north of the city line at present.

SENATORS MEET WITH PRESIDENT ON RELIEF BILL

banks and other banks generally, building and loan associations; and of the consequent responsibility that lay upon congress in consideration of the unanimous views of the R. F. C. board and what they had to say about the situation.

"Having made it possible for the board to aquaint the senate conferees with his views then the responsibility in the final analysis for whatever might happen must rest upon congress."

Still In Conference

Washington, July 15.—The $2,122,000,000 jobless relief bill was to be sent back to conference between senate and house today, with leaders of both bodies jockeying for advantage in their struggle over proposed publicity for all Reconstruction Finance Corporation loans.

Despite the deadlock which ended yesterday's conference, there was a general agreement the bill would be sent finally to the White House.

The possibility of a veto of the revised measure by President Hoover because of inclusion of the publicity clause was seen in the statement of Secretary of the Treasury Mills after a visit to the executive mansion.

Mills said that, as a member of the Finance Corporation Board, he was "unalterably opposed" to full publicity for loans.

German Writers Give Von Papen Two Nicknames

By WALTER DIETZEL
International News Service Staff Correspondent

BERLIN, July 15.—Chancellor Franz von Papen, head of the "baron's" or "monocled" cabinet, under fire from all sides, but—nevertheless respected for his aristocratic appearance and his gentlemanly, polished manner, has been given two nicknames signifying his former and present role in politics.

He is called the "Chancellor without Portfolio" because as a German general staff officer attached to the Turkish forces in Palestine in 1917 he is alleged to have been compelled to beat such a hasty retreat in front of the advancing British that he left behind a portfolio containing secret officials documents. Thus it is said that while Germany has had many ministers without portfolio, she has never had a chancellor without portfolio.

"Zaehringer" is the second nickname. It signifies that von Papen is being managed and mysteriously directed by somebody keeping in the background, for "Zaehringen" is the name of an old warship which instead of being junked is used as a floating target for gun practice of the German navy.

COLLECTS PAY AFTER 32 YEARS

Hillery was employed on the Cotton Belt railroad when he decided to go to California. He failed to collect his final check and did not write for it. When he returned this summer, the railroad agreed to pay him the $12.15 check provided he would present an affidavit as to his identity.

Here are two remarkable pictures made during the recent jobless riot at St. Louis, Mo., in which four persons were killed and many others injured by bricks. Main picture shows police hurling tear gas bombs at a party of rioters which had been laying down a barrage of bricks. An alert photographer caught a bomb in flight, shown in circle. # Makes Long Trip To Return Purse To Poor Woman

(International News Service)

DETROIT, July 15.—Vito Tripoli, 45, no home, no funds, no prospects, walked eight miles on tired feet and with an empty stomach, because he didn't believe in "finders keepers."

Tripoli found a pocketbook on a downtown street. It contained three dollars, and an auto driver's license giving the owner's name and address.

Vito had no money for carfare, but under his code there was only one thing to do—return the purse. It never occurred to him to "borrow" the 6-cent fare from the $3 in the purse, so he walked four miles to the address of Mrs. Regina Haas.

The house was deserted so Vito walked four miles back to police headquarters. Police finally found she had a telephone and called her They learned her family was in desperate financial straits and severely felt the loss of the $3.

"Give Mr. Tripoli one of the three dollars," she instructed police, "and save the others until I call for them."

Vito took his honest dollar and went on his way, a happy man.

Irish Free State Government Rushes Work On Measure

Emergency Duties Act Rushed Through To Final Stages In Dail Eireann Today

(International News Service)

DUBLIN, July 15.—The emergency duties act, with which the Irish Free State hopes to defend itself in its tariff war with Great Britain, was rushed through the final stages in the Dail Eireann today and sent to the Senate for consideration Monday.

The bill passed its third and final reading, 68 to 57. It provides for new high duties on British imports as a retaliatory measure for the new British taxes on Irish goods.

The Dail declined to await the outcome of today's London conference between President Eamonn De Valera and the British prime minister, J. Ramsay MacDonald, rushing the emergency bill through its committee and report stages and its second and third readings.

The Dail then adjourned until October 19.

LITTLE BOY HURT WHEN STRUCK BY AN AUTOMOBILE

W. H. Mockel of 1511 Huron avenue, was enroute east on West State street Thursday at the Youngstown car line crossing at Greenwood avenue, when a little boy James Wagner, aged 4, 506½ West State street, who was crossing the street, was struck by his machine and knocked to the street. The boy was removed to the office of a physician, where it was found that his injuries consisted of a slight cut on the right temple.

FINDS BAG CONTAINS $50 IN PENNIES

(International News Service)

MALDEN, Mass., July 15.—John P. MacQuaig, Malden insurance man, picked up a bag in the street, thinking it contained automobile tire chains. He lugged the heavy sack home and when he opened it, he found it contained 5,000 pennies.

The sack had dropped out of an armored money car enroute from a bank to a Malden store. MacQuaig turned the $50 in coppers over to police.

Radio Thespians Try Costume Idea

(International News Service)

COLUMBUS, O., July 15.—Hello, radio audience!

If the plays broadcast from radio station WEAO at the Ohio State University seem more realistic in the future than they did in the past, it is the psychological effect of costumes.

Tests are being made at the broadcasting headquarters under the direction of Gwendolyn Jenkins to determine whether the plays sound better when they are "acted out" or when simply read into the "mike".

Miss Jenkins believes that costumes, gestures and general action enable the entertainers to "put more heart into the part they play."

Hitherto it had been the custom to allow the players to simply read their lines into the microphone.

Motorist Has Choice Of 82 Stations For Gas In This City; 351 Pumps

There are eighty two gasoline service stations in the city of New Castle which makes it practically certain that no autoist need take a lantern and hunt for a station at night or use a detective to find a station in the day time.

The number goes to show that there has been a big growth to the gasoline service station industry here. A few years ago there were not near 82 stations here but as the automobile trade perked up there was a general rush to erect stations.

Practically every kind of gasoline; or accessory used on an automobile can be obtained at the different stations. Stations are missing only where the zoning laws prohibit their erection.

There is no question that in some instances the erection of stations has enhanced the appearance of the section. Old buildings have been dismantled and neat stations built. Holes have also been filled for the growth of the gasoline stations.

Some of them show a nice design. There is one which appears like a small church. Others have driveways which circle the station. And to be frank the larger companies which build the stations do so with an eye to improving the appearance of a section.

Years ago there were few stations. Most of the gasoline was served from pumps located between the curb and the sidewalk. The curb pumps now in operation are permitted but city legislation bars erection of other pumps outside property lines.

The 82 gasoline stations have 351 pumps, according to A. Reid English, inspector of measures for the city. He inspects the measures at certain periods and says that as a rule all gasoline measures are correct.

Federal Troops Are Victors In Brazilian Fight

Federal Soldiers Capture Itatiaya Station In Rebel Area

(International News Service)

RIO DE JANEIRO, July 15.—Federal troops captured Itatiaya Station, midway between Rio De Janeiro and Sao Paulo, headquarters of the southern rebels, today after a bitter battle in which there were heavy casualties to both sides, according to a government announcement.

The Brazilian Red Cross rushed aid to "the front," setting up headquarters at Barra Do Pyrahy, 62 miles west of Rio De Janeiro

Itatiaya Station is on the Rio-Sao Paulo railway at the border between the rebel state of Sao Paulo and the loyal state of Rio De Janeiro.

Bishop Becker, of Porto Alegre, in the loyal state of Bahia, negotiated with Cardinal Sebastiano Leme, archbishop of Rio De Janeiro, in an effort to end the southern uprising, which has threatened to spread to far more serious proportions.

Father, 61, Kills Blind Son And Self

LOS ANGELES, July 15.—A despondent father who had lost his life's savings and saw no way to care for his blind son shot the son, Lawrence Shutt, 30, to death Thursday, police said, and then committed suicide.

The father was E. M. Shutt, 61, of Glendale, Cal., twice sheriff of Morrow County, Oregon. He used the revolver he carried as sheriff to kill his son, blind many years, and himself. Authorities described it as a "mercy" death.

The shooting occurred in front of the home of Mrs. A. S. Wagle, the elder Shutt's niece, who said Shutt had lost about $10,000 recently in disastrous financial ventures.

She said he had telephoned her earlier in the day saying he was bringing Lawrence to her home for a visit.

Root Crops Planted Now Best For Winter Storage

Many valuable pointers are included among the timely reminders given out by the school of agriculture, Penn State College, as follows:

Plant Root Crops—Beets, carrots, and rutabagas planted early in July will be better for winter storage than the early crop. Root crops yield a large supply of food from a small area of ground.

Change Pastures—Rotating stock on pastures increases production, eliminates waste, and makes better sods. If given the run of a large area, stock pasture some parts too closely and allow others to grow up and die untouched.

Save Forest Trees—Protect forest trees planted this year from heavy growth of grass or weeds. Walk through the planting to see that the little trees are not completely overshadowed. If some are completely shaded, tramp down or cut off the grass or weeds around the trees. Locusts should be watched more closely than pines because they are very easily killed out by shading.

Feed Good Cows—Do not neglect feeding because prices are low. A far better plans is to weed out the poorer cows and give extra feed to the good producers. More milk from the same amount of feed will result.

Free Pot-Bound Plants—Plants kept in the conservatory all winter often become pot-bound in the spring. Ferns, palms, rubber plants, and some of the succulent growing indoor plants should be transplanted to larger pots. Use fairly rich soil well supplied with fibrous loam, leaf mold, sand, and well-rotted manure. Have ample drainage in the form of broken crockery, pots, or stones in the base of pots for drainage.

Swimming Has Big Camp Appeal

Scouts Take To Water On Torrid Day—Other Events Related

(Special To The News)

CAMP JOHN M. PHILLIPS, July 14.—There wasn't a boy who didn't want to go swimming Thursday at Camp Phillips. They went for a dip, a swim in the morning, and a swim in the afternoon and wanted to go at night. But this last request wasn't granted. It is hot all day but the blankets feel good at night. Boating was also very much in demand all day. Al Sump and Gordon Welch, members of the camp staff, passed the examination for senior Red Cross life guard. Everybody wanted to get as close to the cooling water as possible.

The Rabbitt patrol in Goehring Hut took the banner from the Martins, which is something. The other huts have to work to beat that crew. Bob Moore, the inspector, must have taken a microscope to spot the dirt as there was only three points difference between the winning and losing huts.

Arrow making has hit the camp square in the bulls-eye. Everybody's doing it. The camp has been able to secure a quantity of shafts, feathers, and points at such a bargain that the boys are able to make an arrow for six cents. Wilfred Hazen has taken to making arrows like a duck does to water.

A night game "Capture the Flag" took the place of campfire this evening with two teams captained by Ed McCreary of New Castle and George Marquis of New Brighton trying to get the other's flag without being caught. After fifty minutes of slipping, sleuthing and stealth the Marquis men were victorious.

Harold Burns, committeeman of Ellwood City troop 14, was the distinguished visitor of the day. The reason for the word distinguished is a tennis set of singles in which he beat LeRoi Norton, camp director. But Norton two-teamed him by picking the best tennis playing camper in camp to be his partner in a set of doubles. The combination clicked and Burns and Bill Davidson were licked.

At colors ceremony tonight Myron Gelbach and Jim Dean were presented with a first year cub's emblems and Joe Bowater received his second year cub's emblem, the first ones to be won this year. Bill Knauff, Ted Knauff, Jack Dunn, Tom Dunn, Tom Jones will receive their second year emblems by mail as will Charles Matthews and Bill Bissell receive their first year. Jim Higgins of New Castle will get his four year cub emblem, the highest so far awarded.

He is slowly improving at his home, West South street.

THIS MATTER OF ACCOMMODATION

A CONSERVATIVE Bank—and no other bank is worthy of the name—must be cautious in making loans. It cannot afford to take even the ordinary risk of the business man. The business man in extending credit is doing so with his own wares. But a bank is loaning the money of its depositors.

THE safe bank—the conservative bank—the one that must be assured a loan will be promptly repaid and is properly secured is one that is a benefit to the entire community—absolutely safe for its depositors—wholly just to those who borrow.

Twenty-two members of the Sunday school class taught by Rev. D. C. Schnebly, Presbyterian church, gathered at Cottage Grove, near New Wilmington, for a wiener roast Thursday evening. It was a perfect evening for the occasion. It was enjoyed to the fullest.

Motorist Gets Injury To Hand

Anthony Bombolis, of Reading, Pa., was treated for a severe burn on his right hand yesterday, received when he attempted to extinguish a fire started in the floor boards of his small roadster. ## Observations In 7th Ward

Fishermen aren't the only members of the Tall Story Club. Gardeners are just as worthy of membership. The writer heard one of the Baltimore and Ohio men describe the beans in his garden as being "as large as bananas." Ah, now Fred!

Was there anyone absent from the B. and O. picnic last evening? Not very many, one would guess from seeing the huge gathering. Everyone had a great old time.

One unemployed family was given a home the other day through the generosity of Alderman H. G. Coates. That is a real way of helping people in need.

The need of a pulmotor permanently stationed in seventh ward is again being voiced by local citizens. Two near drownings occurred in the Mahoning last Saturday and could easily have been fatal.

Rejuvenation Is Discussed

Steinach Rejuvenation Method Discussed By New York Doctor In Punxsutawney

(International News Service)

PUNXSUTAWNEY, Pa., July 15.—Reactivate, senator—rejuvenate for the common weal!!

If you're nearly the three-score mark, especially reactivate!

This advice was passed out today by Dr. Harry Benjamin, New York, in a report made to a formal medical meeting which concerned itself with the Steinach rejuvenation method.

Principal effects of the rejuvenation were described as an increase in mental efficiency. In this connection, Dr. Benjamin remarked:

"The aging process can be combatted only within modest limits, but sufficiently to recommend its widest application.

"To give just one practical example (a wish dream, I am afraid) I believe it would be of the greatest benefit to our country in its present crisis if every congressman or senator, every holder of an important government office who is older than, say 55, would be compelled to undergo a reactivation operation.

"It may not add years to their lives but it would add life to their years."

Superior Court Opinions Rendered

Action Taken On Appeals When Were Carried Up From Lawrence County

In an opinion handed down by the Superior court at Philadelphia Thursday Judge R. C. Hildebrand is sustained in his opinion in the case of John Holsoppel and Agusta Holsoppel against the Great Lakes Stages Company and the Century Idemnity Company. This case went to the higher court on an appeal from an award under the Workmen's Compensation Act. The plaintiff was awarded $1540 damages for injuries this was sustained by the lower courts, and defendants appealed.

Judge James A. Chambers was affirmed in the case of the Borough of New Wilmington against the estate of Emma B. Sinclair and C. C. and Jessie McCrumb. It involved a claim for the grading and paving of Vine street. Jessie McCrumb bought the property unaware of a paving lien of $572.52. It was claimed that more than five years had elapsed before the filing of a sciri facias to collect, and that the claim was barred under the act of assembly relating to such claims. Judge Chambers held that collection of the claim was not barred.

In the case of Ora B. Braley against the First National Bank of Ellwood City, tried before Judge Chambers, the lower court is reversed and a new trial ordered. This case grew out of a controversy over some goods levied upon by the sheriff. A verdict was rendered for a part of the claim. A new trial was refused by Judge Chambers. The case was then carried up.

Judge Chambers was also reversed in the case of the National Cash Register company against Grace Sorto and Lawrence Pascarella. Trouble was over a cash register which had been levied upon for rent and finally came into the hands of Charles Augostine. Judgment in favor of the defendant was given by Judge Chambers.

Judge Chambers was affirmed in the case of G. C. Heberling Company against Wakefield and others.

Judge Hildebrand was affirmed in the case of J. A. Wellar against the Grange Mutual Casualty Company, in which a $1,611.15 workmen's compensation verdict was upheld.

Hebrew Society To Have Picnic

Picnic To Be Given Next Sunday By Hebrew Free Loan Society

Members, families and friends of the Hebrew Free Loan Society of New Castle will have a picnic outing at Neshannock Falls, near New mington, next Sunday.

It will be an all day affair, admission is free and indications point to one of the most enjoyable all day picnics in years. Plans are being made by an appointed picnic committee.

This noteworthy society has been carrying on its activities in New Castle for 25 years. It is a charitable institution in a higher sense, the purpose of which is to help worthy people through financial setbacks by loaning them sums of money payable back without interest. Borrowers are permitted to return the money in small amounts over a convenient length of time. In this way the Free Loan Society prevents its people, many of whom are in business enterprises, from asking alms. It has been a great boon in the past two years especially, to local business men.

Officers of the society are: Percy Alpern, president; Ellis Levine, vice president; H. Edelstine, treasurer; and J. Sigler, secretary. Meetings are conducted regularly in the Tifereth Israel Synagogue. Members number about 100.

They are giving a cordial invitation to their friends to attend Sunday's picnic and are looking forward to having a large crowd.

State Clinics Treat Many For Tuberculosis

Eighty-Five Clinics In Operation With 4,200 Patients On Rolls

NEW APPLICANTS RECEIVED DAILY

HARRISBURG, July 15.—The announcement recently made by Dr. Theodore B. Appel, secretary of health, that the state was giving treatment and care to more than 6,600 tuberculosis patients at the present time, attracts attention to the work of the sanitoria and clinics conducted by the state department of health.

The 85 clinics operating in the commonwealth, with more than 4,200 patients on their rolls, are under the direct supervision of Dr. John B. Critchfield, chief of the tuberculosis division, state department of health. They offer free examination and subsequent institutional or local care to indigent patients who are found to be suffering from this disease.

Dr. Critchfield is a frequent visitor at these clinics, giving his personal attention to the work of examination and treatment, when he pays such calls, in various parts of the commonwealth. A total of 500 clinic days is reported for a single recent month, during which time they were visited by 4,527 patients, in addition to the new applicants.

During the same month, the state visiting nurses connected with these clinics made 5,536 visits into the homes of their patients, to render such service as was possible, and to instruct them in the use of daily living that is so essential if the white plague is to be conquered and health return again to the afflicted one.

The month's record also shows that there were 2,000 new applicants for treatment, while 142 were transferred to some one of the sanitoria and 342 were discharged. The tuberculosis work of the state department of health, in its various phases, is one of its most outstanding activities.

It's the Cigarette that's Milder and Tastes Better!

That's why more and more Smokers are changing to Chesterfield every day

WHEN you are smoking a lot of cigarettes every day, you naturally want a mild cigarette, and smokers try Chesterfields and find out that they are milder and taste better.

Then smokers tell other smokers—"one smoker telling another"—that they find that although they smoke a great many Chesterfields during the day, they never tire of them; and that they have found out that Chesterfield is a milder cigarette, that it is a cigarette that tastes better, that it is a cigarette with a most pleasing aroma.

Some time ago, in a Chesterfield advertisement, there was a statement, "A $90,000,000 Reason," and this means that the larger part of $90,000,000 is invested in the right kind of ripe, mild Domestic and Turkish tobaccos to make sure that Chesterfields are milder and taste better.

May we ask you to try them?

BRINGS REPORT OF ACTION AT STATE CONFERENCE

Love Back From Conference On State Taxation

Appointed On Resolutions Committee Who Make New Recommendations

LEGISLATORS ARE IN ATTENDANCE

James K. Love, counsellor of the State Chamber of Commerce, who attended the special meeting called by the State Chamber of Commerce for the purpose of considering taxation and relief measures has returned home from Harrisburg, which he attended as a representative of the New Castle Chamber of Commerce.

There were 200 present at the meeting which was a most pertinent one in view of the special session of the state legislature now being held, and a number of legislators were present.

Recommendations of a constructive nature were made by the resolutions committee consisting of six men from various parts of the state, on which committee Mr. Love was appointed to serve.

Must Cut Expenses

"It was the unanimous opinion of everyone present that the expenses of the state government must and could be greatly reduced," Mr. Love stated, "It was also felt that relief measures should be enacted which should be financed without increased taxation."

The resolutions adopted and which were submitted to Governor Pinchot and the state legislature as an expression of the wishes of the business and industrial interests of the state were as follows:

1—That adequate relief should be provided for the next eight months to supplement existing relief.

2—That relief should be distributed by existing local agencies in substantially the same manner as the Talbot-Turner fund.

3—That restoration of the appropriation for hospitals, homes, and mothers relief funds cut off by the last meeting of the legislature, be made.

Relief Measures

4—That the relief measures to be provided should be as follows:

a—By legislation enabling the State of Pennsylvania to take advantage of any federal loans or advances for relief.

b—By reduction in state taxes to approximate as near as possible the level of 1924. This would reduce state expenses by $50,000,000.

c—Recommend that no new state taxes be levied.

d—All the balance needed for relief which it would be unable to save by cutting expenses should be taken from special funds now existing.

5—That temporary suspension of increases in teachers salaries under the Edmunds act, be made.

6—That the executive branch of the state government provide complete reports from time to time of the condition of all state branches.

7—That all local Chambers of Commerce appoint representative citizens to a continuous tax committee in each locality to thoroughly go into their tax situation locally and recommend changes which seem feasible.

8—That a joint committee of the state legislature be appointed to make a study of the state road program and recommend anw economies which might be effected.

There seemed to be much agitation at the meeting to provide work as a means of relief.

Mr. Love told members of the committee how the Mayor's Relief committee had been functioning, not by providing work to produce relief, but by requiring those who were assisted to work on local projcts which would not otherwise be done, and the idea was highly thought of.

Births Greatly Exceed Deaths

State Records Show Increase In Population Despite Low Rate In State

HARRISBURG, July 15.— The first four months of 1932 report a total of 56,000 births in Pennsylvania, according to information made public by Dr. Emlyn Jones, Chief of the Bureau of Vital Statistics, State Department of Health. The same period records slightly more than 40,000 deaths from all causes. The net gain in population as shown by these figures, is 16,000.

Commenting, Dr. Jones said:—"Judging by the experience of the third of the year, 1932 will witness an unusually low birth rate. This can be explained, in part at least, by the decline in the number of marriages performed during 1931, which declined from the 1930 low total. The actual number of marriages in the commonwealth during 1931 was 60,160. This is more than ten thousand fewer than in 1929. The marriage rate last year was 12.4 persons married per 1,000 population."

Attention is called by Dr. Jones to another phase of the declining birth rate. He states that it increases the infant and maternity mortality rates. That is to say, as the birth rate goes down, the infant death rate and the death rate for mothers at child birth, advances, since they are based on the total number of births.

The April births totaled 13,089 while the deaths from all causes for the same month, stood at 10,038. These are a thousand fewer in each case than those recorded in the month of March.

For the first third of the year the births and deaths are in the proportion of 56 to 40; that is 56 births to each 40 deaths for the state as a whole.

Veterans Continue March At Capitol

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, July 15.— The dove of peace cooed from a broken olive branch today as district and government officials explained the calling of two companies of marines to the Capitol last night, where 1,200 members of the Bonus Expeditionary Forces, continued their "march of death."

Navy officials declared the marines were sent to Capitol Hill at the request of Vice-President Curtis, while the order for their immediate withdrawal was said to have come from the White House.

Marines Called

Meanwhile 400 veterans, leg sore and many of them barefoot continued their shuffle about the paths of the Capitol with only a corporal's guard of police maintaining peace and order.

The calling of the marines is attributed to the appearance of a pamphlet issued by the radical element of the army, which threatened trouble if congress adjourns without favorable action on the bonus question.

As a result of the appearance of the marines, Superintendent of Police Glassford today announced he would take no more orders from the Capitol police board, but only from Curtis and Speaker Garner.

The marching veterans chose to accept the appearance of the marines good naturedly, and cheered as the peacetime soldiers marched up Capitol Hill and down again.

Many Go Home

The time limit for loans to veterans for railroad fare to their homes, has been extended to July 25 as requested by the President.

About 2,000 bonus marchers have taken advantage of the offer of transportation, but officers of the B. E. F., declare that three times that number have arrived to replace them.

Good Job Being Done, Treser States

Payroll For Four Days Work Is Approved By City Council

Council met formally in the City building today and voted approval of a payroll of $275, money due employes of the city who are restoring a portion of Long avenue to good condition. The pay covers four days work.

Councilman Treser informed colleagues that good work has been done by the men. The rails have been removed and the dirt is now being excavated.

Treser stated that a concrete base will be laid and the brick which was removed from the portion where the street cars operated will be the repaving material.

The city will sell the rails.

The city was paid $7,500 by the New Castle Street Electric Railway in full settlement for the city to remove the rails and restore the east end of the avenue to good condition.

After Long avenue work has been completed workmen will repeat the same kind of work in Hamilton and North Beaver streets, where the car company also abandoned street car operations.

Believes Auto Drivers As Well As Machines Should Undergo Tests

HARRISBURG, Pa., July 15.—Control of reckless and otherwise irresponsible drivers through periodical tests, increase in the size of the State Highway Patrol force, and enactment of a "safety responsibility" bill were recommended today by the Pennsylvania Motor Federation to check the steadily mounting death and injury toll on streets and highways.

"Compulsory inspection of vehicles is an excellent thing, but we must go further," said S. Edward Gable, president of the Federation. "A recent survey by the American Automobile Association revealed that in the past year eighty-nine percent of the fatal and near fatal automobile accidents were due to drivers, not to faulty mechanism. In the past sixty days more than a dozen fatalities occurred on the Lincoln Highway between Lancaster and Philadelphia and in every instance investigators blamed the personal element. This indicates quite clearly where most of the trouble is and provides a convincing reason why the state should go a step further in its compulsory inspections and make sure that the operator, as well as the mechanism of the vehicle, is safe."

Referring to the Motor Patrol, the Federation head stated:—"This organization has done and is doing excellent work in Pennsylvania, but its services are limited because of the comparatively small number of patrolmen for the thousands of miles of highway to be covered. Several hundred men should be added to the present force as soon as funds are available. In fact it is just as important to provide for the proper patrolling of roads, as it is to build and maintain them. No funds are spent with better results than those that go to the maintenance of the Highway Patrol, and whatever monies are expended in enlarging this force will pay rich dividends in the protection of life and property on our highways."

Prohibitionists Not To Endorse

Will Issue Statement However, Comparing Hoover And Roosevelt

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, July 15.—President Hoover must do without direct endorsement of the allied prohibitions in the coming campaign, it appeared today as the national prohibition board of strategy met in final session to adopt a statement of policy concerning candidates.

Instead, the executive will have to be satisfied with "a statement of facts" wherein he will show to pronounced advantage from a dry viewpoint in comparison with his Democratic opponent, Gov. Franklin D. Roosevelt, of New York.

The full strategy board was to meet today to hear from its policy committee which struggled until well past midnight working out a "dry yardstick" with which all aspirants for public office will be measured.

Huge Beer Raid Near Youngstown

YOUNGSTOWN, O., July 15—The largest beer plant seized in Mahoning county in more than three years was raided last night by Sheriff Adam Stone in the basement of a house just east of the city limits.

Stone and his deputies reported they found six 500-gallon tanks of beer and one 1,000-gallon cooling drum full of beer. The sheriff said the cooling drum was surrounded by nearly a ton of ice. Several half-barrels of beer also were seized, bringing the total amount close to 4,500 gallons.

Stone, who valued the plant at $5,000, arrested a man and a woman.

BOY'S NECK IS BROKEN DIVING

GREENVILLE, Pa., July 15.—Frederick Moyer Jr., 16, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Moyer, 170 South Mercer street, injured in a dive from the bank at Log Cabin Park, has a broken neck. The boy, a patient in the Greenville hospital, is in a critical condition, being paralyzed from the shoulders down.

According to spectators at the swimming pool, the boy was making shallow dives from the bank at a point where the water was quite shallow. He had called to someone to "watch this" when he made the last dive, it was said, and a distant observer noticed that he did not reappear over the bank. Attention was called to his absence, and several hastened to the water, where he was pulled up on the bank.

PARROT DISEASE SPREADS

BRESLAU, Germany—Psittacosis, the mysterious parrot disease, continues to take its toll of victims. Karl Bartsch, owner of a parrot farm near here, died, and four other persons, including Professor Dr. Prausnitz, noted German psittacosis expert, are in a hospital in a critical condition.

National Farm Outlook

By ARTHUR H. JENKINS
Editor, The Farm Journal
Written for Central Press

If you want to be happy, prosperous and free from anxieties, you ought to fix it so you can be an intermediate credit blank.

There is a business. A fine clean, active line, selling credit in one direction at low rates, and security to investors in the other direction. A business which lent $267,000,000 last year will collect practically every nickel of it. Why aren't we all intermediate credit banks? Be an intermediate credit bank and say goodbye to trouble.

I suppose the banks do have their troubles and anxieties, to be accurate. Nobody with a hundred million dollars always outstanding in loans, more or less, can help worrying a little whether their security is all it is represented to be, if nothing else. But it is a fact that the credit banks, the youngest of the group of federal farm finance agencies, are in a relatively prosperous and easy position.

They do not deal with individual farmers, but with cooperative organizations, credit corporations, livestock loan companies and commercial banks, whose credit can be thoroughly examined. The loans are based on some staple farm product with a wide margin of safety, and for short periods—the "intermediate" credit from which the banks get their title. Thus their loans do not "go bad", for the security is always marketable, and can be sold out if necessary.

Add to these advantages the fact that the banks have influential friends in congress, who can and do whatever seems to be necessary to make their operations safer, cheaper and more efficient.

Thus congress passed in May the Norbeck-Steagall bill, under which the debentures issued by the credit banks—the source from which they get their cash—may be discounted by banks in the Federal Reserve system. In other words, banks may buy the debentures freely, knowing that in a pinch they may borrow on them for 15 days at the Federal Reserve banks.

This makes the debentures more desirable for banks, which will buy them at lower interest rates. And this makes it possible for the credit banks to relend the money at lower rates.

In the last six weeks the banks have cut their lending rates twice, and most of them now make loans at 3½ to 4 per cent. That is low. And the benefit of cheap borrowing goes eventually to individual farmers.

Yes, the intermediate active banks are doing nicely. Their active and happy position stands out only the stronger, as compared with the difficulties of the land banks, both federal and joint stock. Fundamentally, good farm land is as good security as there is in the world. But the land banks, lending only on land mortgages, have their troubles in collecting on loans, and in disposing of the farms that they have to take over. Congress has helped them, and will do it again if necessary. They are all right.

But the intermediate credit banks ask no help from anybody. They are sitting on top of the world. I wish I was or were them or they.

City And County Officers See Gun Gas Demonstration

Use Sub-Machine Gun And Tear Gas In Demonstration At Old Sand Bank

Chief of Police John F. Haven and a group of city officers, County Detective H. M. Lee, Assistant County Detective B. J. Rocks and others on Thursday afternoon witnessed and participated in a demonstration of the Thompson sub-machine gun and straight tear gas. The demonstration took place in the former sandbank of the Universal Sand Company just east of Cascade Park.

The sub-machine gun, designed especially for use in combatting the efforts of bank robbers, racketeers and criminals of that character, is as easily carried as an ordinary rifle and can be equipped to shoot from 20 to 50 shots without reloading.

The various officers used the gun yesterday under the supervision of Jack J. Baxter of Youngstown, O., who is conducting demonstrations of the gun in this district. The officers were highly successful in hitting marks at more than a hundred yards in the demonstration.

Demonstration of tear gas bombs, thrown both by hand and by a small high powered gun type machine was most impressive, showing how it can be used effectively at short or long range as required. There was also a demonstration of a gas filled police club.

The city is said to be considering the advisability of securing a machine gun with which to battle possible bank bandits or other criminals of a similar character.

Have Conference About Engineer

Councilmen And Mayor Discuss Status Of City Engineer

Members of council today conferred on the question of a city engineer following the regular session of council. The meeting was held in Mayor Mayne's office.

Sometime ago Councilman Treser recommended Harry Hoskins as municipal engineer to succeed F. F. Miller.

Following the election, Mayor Mayne raised a question as to Hoskins eligibility to serve.

He maintained Hoskins had not registered in the state of Pennsylvania.

Treser informed the mayor that Hoskins had filed papers for registration. He had previously registered in New Mexico.

Pending a decision of Hoskins status by the state board of engineers registration Miller was continued on the job.

The board it is said will not decide the question until September.

Recently Mayor Mayne asked that council settle the question so as to enable the city to save the cost of one engineer.

Treser agreed to a conference. Both Mayor Mayne and he said they believed an amicable agreement could be reached.

Today the conference was held in the private office of the mayor and the outcome may become public Monday.

Prohibition Body Fails To Endorse Either Candidate

Two Reports Cause Spirited Wrangle At Final Session In Washington Today

By GEORGE E. DURNO
International News Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, July 15.—Two reports, one merely citing the records of Herbert Hoover and Franklin D. Roosevelt, "and letting the records speak for themselves," and another endorsing Mr. Hoover for reelection, caused a spirited wrangle today at the final session of the prohibition board of strategy.

The first report drafted by a subcommittee headed by Dr. Ernest H. Cherrington and Bishop James Cannon, Jr., did not endorse either candidate. As soon as it was presented the substitute was reported by another group of drys and threw the gathering in an uproar.

Reporters were barred from the meeting.

LEGISLATORS PLANNING CAMPAIGN TO OVERRIDE PINCHOT

tion-slashing bill appeared likely, but the modifications would be extended only to the point where the measure would become acceptable to legislators now in the doubtful class.

May Change Cuts

Strong possibility existed that the Senate Appropriations Committee, now holding the Steedle bill, would reduce the total cuts from $22,750,000 to about $16,000,000. The bill and its companion measures passed two readings in the upper branch andn then went to committee until the reconvening Monday night.

A bid for support of legislators from Northwestern Pennsylvania was expected to be made through reduction of the slash in the Pymatuning Dam appropriation. The cut listed at present is $400,000.

One concession has already been made in the house by the Talbot-Turner bloc in a move to gain support among adherents of the Wade-Sheffer rural group. This was seen in the decision to send the Talbot $24,000,000 relief bill back to committee for amendments. The changes would allow county commissioners to use the money allotted for work relief as well as direct relief.

Legislative leaders hope to place their entire program on the Governor's desk late next week. Recess would then be called as the executive has ten days in which to act on the measures.

Amendments to the Steedle Bill, it was understood, would make the cuts to hospitals, sanitoria, and penal institutions less stringent. By reducing the total slash in this way from $22,750,000, additional support would be gained for the bill in both branches.

PENNSYLVANIA CLUB MEMBERS TO LEAVE

The advance guard of the membership of the Pennsylvania club, one of the leading vacation clubs of this district, will leave Saturday morning for the camp of the club on Georgian Bay, Ontario, Canada. ### Florida Governor Not Satisfied With Report Filed In Death Of Harold Bradley

RESENTMENT IS GROWING DAILY

Death Of Two Northern Boys In Florida Prison Camps, Gives State Black Eye

By WILLIAM K. HUTCHINSON
International News Service Staff Correspondent

TALAHASEE, Fla., July 15—A sweeping new inquiry into the killing of Harold Bradley, a 20 year old Pennsylvania youth, by a guard in Indiantown, Fla., prison camp last May, was under way today by state prison inspectors under orders from Governor Doyle E. Carlton.

The governor apparently was dissatisfied with the meager reports given his office on the Bradley case by state officials. He ordered state prison inspectors to "get all the facts" and "make them public."

Treated Cruelly

This was the governor's reaction to charges, voiced in Loretto, Pa., the home town of young Bradley, that the youth had been treated "cruelly and inhumanly" at the Indiantown camp.

The governor was determined to end all despite both over the treatment of Bradley, prior to the killing, and over the manner in which he came to his death.

The governor was much upset over charges that Bradley was shot four times by the guard, one shot being fired into his body after he had fallen wounded by prior shots. He went so far as to order a new report from Dr. S. L. Parker, the camp physician, who performed an autopsy on the boy's body, calling in particular for the number of wounds.

Officials Disturbed

The governor and other state officials were disturbed by the widespread publicity given the "torture death" of Arthur Maillefert 19 year old New Jersey boy, in a prison camp near Jacksonville, Fla. They feared public reaction against the state of Florida if a fresh scandal developed over the death of Bradley. They saw no way to escape the coincidence that two northern boys were killed in Florida prison camps.

A search of records filed in the office of agriculture commissioner Nathan Mayo, revealed that Captain Peter Tomasello Sr., in charge of the camp where Bradley met his death, asked permission to deny reports that the boy had been treated "cruelly and inhumanly" and to stage an independent investigation of the killing.

When he was granted that permission, the camp captain curiously enough announced he did not desire to get into a newspaper controversy.

State officials declared Captain Tomasello was an "honorable man" and a "splendid prison official."

Report Is Filed

They were unable however to give any details as the manner in which Bradley met his death. Their only record was a report from Dr. Parker that Bradley died of a gunshot wound in the abdomen and the presentment of Martin county grand jury that his killing was "justifiable homicide."

The grand jury report merely read "we investigated the shooting of the state convict by Guy Gillet, guard, the state convict being named Harold Bradley, and we found this to be justifiable homicide."

Salts Like Spuds From State Farms

Eastern Seaboard Good Market For Pennsylvania Grown Potatoes

HARRISBURG, July 15.—Deep-sea sailors like Pennsylvania potatoes and plenty of them. So eastern seaboard ports, especially Philadelphia, furnish a potential market for Keystone state spuds, according to William R. Whitacre, farm market analyst of the Greater Pennsylvania Council.

Philadelphia produce dealers who supply ships, report a steady demand—which they are sometimes not able to supply—for a certain type of Pennsylvania potato as against all competitors, Whitacre said.

"They want a small, uniform size potato—No. 2 in size but No. 1 in quality," said Whitacre. "I interviewed one sea captain who said he preferred Pennsylvania because they cooked up better, kept their flavor, and 'reminded us of home.'

"I am also told that there is a potential demand from potato chip manufacturers for the best quality Pennsylvania potatoes. Such potatoes meet their requirements better than those of any competing section, I am informed.

"Here is another market possibility which Pennsylvania potato growers might look into to their own advantage."

Whitacre and John F. Ross, his assistant, are surveying Pennsylvania farm markets to uncover new market possibilities and methods for Pennsylvania producers.

By LINTON WELLS

LONDON, July 15.—The British government Thursday afternoon officially denied that the new Anglo-French entente, represented an attempt by France and Great Britain to present a united front against the United States in the matter of war debt settlement.

A government statement, evidently inspired by Premier Edouard Herriot's speech in the French Chamber of Deputies yesterday, said:

"In connection with the report which has been put in circulation as to the interpretation of the Anglo-French declaration to which other governments have been invited to adhere, there is no truth in the statement that it is applicable to the question of British debts to the United States."

Pittsburghers Seek Buried Gold

Expedition Will Hunt Treasure And Seek Aids To Medical Science

By JOHN SCOTZIN
International News Service Staff Correspondent

PITTSBURGH, July 15—"What is so rare as a payday in June?"

Attempting to solve their own economic problems, a group of young Pittsburghers have organized an expedition in search of buried treasure.

The object of their search consists of 18 Spanish galleons, laden with bars of solid gold, which, covered with shifting sands of countless centuries, now lie at the bottom of the sea off Puerto Bella, Panama—the focal point of numerous treasure-seeking expeditions.

The expedition, led by J. Mortimer Shapard, 30-year-old Pittsburgh veteran of similar expeditions in the past, will sail late in September on the full-masted 80-foot schooner Pursuit in search of the treasure.

A new diving device, which will enable divers to descend more than 100 feet into the shark-infested waters where the treasure lies, has been purchased by the group.

Aside from the pecuniary returns the expedition may yield, Sheppard said the major purposes of the expedition are scientific.

Sheppard and his men will traverse jungles and tropical rivers in search of aids to medical and industrial science.

Metals used in the treatment of cancer and other diseases will be sought. A weed known as "cube", which yields a powerful insecticide, will be studied by the explorers with a view to domestic cultivation. The group also will study the dread parrot fever—psittacosis—in an endeavor to effect a cure for the disease.

The lure of valuable gold utensils and carved gold idols will lead the men into an exploration of prehistoric Indian mounds, believed to be on the Pacific coast of Lower Panama.

Police In Paris Probing Death Of Rich Young Woman

Fail To Believe That Mrs. Katherine Whelan Gordon-Ellis Was Suicide Victim

(International News Service)

PARIS, July 15.—Police launched an investigation today into the strange death of Mrs. Katherine Whelan Gordon-Ellis, adopted daughter of the late Frederick Whelan, former vice-president of the United Cigar Stores, to determine whether she had committed suicide or died accidentally.

An autopsy is to be performed this afternoon on the body of the young woman, a native of Syracuse, N. Y., who apparently died from an overdose of sleeping potion.

Mrs. Gordon-Ellis separated from her husband, a young British dentist, two years ago and recently they were divorced. The police were told she had been left $2,000,000 by her foster father but that she had lavished gifts upon friends in such a manner that her income had been reduced to about $800 a month.

The homicide division is endeavoring to obtain statements from Miss Ruth Wise, formerly of Long Branch, N. J., and New York, and Miss Diana Haskell, an English girl, who were intimate friends of Mrs. Gordon-Ellis and who accompanied her to the hospital. Miss Wise, however, had departed for Spain and Miss Haskell could not be found.

Miss Wise's mother, who is a resident of Paris, said she was certain Mrs. Gordon-Ellis had committed suicide. She had made previous attempts to end her life, she declared.

Governor Roosevelt Is Bringing Yacht Cruise To End At New Hampshire City

By RAYMOND BORST
International News Service Staff Correspondent

ABOARD YACHT MARCON IN MASSACHUSETTS BAY, July 15.—Governor Franklin D. Roosevelt neared the end of his week's cruise through New England waters today, tanned and happy, but anxious to get into the thick of his campaign for the presidency.

The Governor rolled out of his bunk on the Yawl Myth II in Sippican Harbor before six a. m., routed out his five men crew, which included three of his sons, and prepared for another hard day of sailing.

If all goes well the "Presidential Cruise" will come to an end tomorrow night at Portsmouth, N. H., and the Governor will be back at his desk at Albany not later than Tuesday morning.

Because of the winding, narrow channel the Governor's yawl was towed through the Cape Cod canal by the Yacht Ambassadress (CQ).

This was the first time since the Governor sailed from Port Jefferson L. I., on Monday that the yawl has been towed by a power boat.

Not once during the week has the Governor put foot on land, and he has been at the wheel almost continuously since the cruise began.

By ROBERT MILLAR

HARRISBURG, July 15.—A Lykens miner knelt today in his cell in the Daughin county jail, his tortured soul seeking a measure of solace in prayer as the unrelenting vision of slaughtered innocents haunted him.

It was a harrowing remorse that descended upon Barney Godleskie, 31, who saw his hands crimson with the blood of his own offspring—three children who died under an axe he wielded.

While the father, penitent and bewildered prayed for relief for his harried conscience, the mother, her dread task of purchasing three caskets completed, could not find it in her heart to forgive him.

"I hope they hang him," she said bitterly, recovering from the first shock which had left her dazed and silent.

There was one, though, who wanted Godleskie treated with mercy—his ten-year-old daughter, Helen. She was his favorite and the only one spared from the awful deaths her brother and two sisters met in the cellar of their home early Wednesday.

"I hope they don't hurt my daddy," she cried.

The Passover

"Brass Tacks" On The Sunday School Lesson

The Golden Text

Our passover also hath been sacrificed, even Christ.—I Cor. 5:7.

By DR. ALVIN E. BELL

(The international uniform lesson for July 17 is Exodus 11:1-12:36, especially 12:21-28, the Golden Text being I Cor. 5:7, "Our passover also hath been sacrificed, even Christ.")

God sent Moses and Aaron to Pharaoh to make the clear cut demand that he permit the Israelites to go out from Egypt a three days' journey to sacrifice unto Jehovah in the wilderness.

In response Pharaoh suggested a series of compromises which strikingly represent many temptations assailing Christians of the present day. "Sacrifice to you God in the land" represents the temptation to avoid conversion and separation from sin.

"Ye shall not go very far away," suggests a half and half religion," scarcely distinguishable from gross worldliness. "Go, ye that are men, and serve the Lord," is Satan's effort to keep religion from becoming a matter for the whole family, wives and little ones included, and to confine it to chapels and churches.

"Let your flocks and your herds be stayed," is the devil's effort to divorce religion from business, making the one "sacred" and the other "secular."

Moses' reply, "There shall not an hoof be left behind," declares that business is equally sacred with religion and that nothing may be withheld from consecration to God and his service.

Amidst this series of attempts to get Moses to compromise in Jehovah's requirements there fell upon Pharaoh and the Egyptians a series of ten terrible plagues culminating in the death of the first born child in every home of the Egyptians. Against all these Pharaoh hardened his heart and refused to yield to God's demands until after the final blow fell, bringing death throughout the land.

The Passover Instituted.

To prepare the Israelites for their exemption from this final plague of death God gave Moses minute instructions for their being "passed over" by the angel of death and from this the ordinance obtains its name of "Passover". A lamb without blemish was to be taken from their flocks and its blood sprinkled upon the lintel and the side-posts of the door of every home as a sign of the faith and obedience of that household. Meanwhile within the household all was in readiness for a speedy departure at God's command. The final meal of the sacrificial lamb was being eaten as the family stood with staff in hand, ready to begin their journey. The unleavened bread and the bitter herbs of the feast symbolized redemption from the bondage and dominion of sin. The fact that it was observed in the homes of the people symbolized the place religion must have in home and family life.

The Passover Fulfilled.

The full significance of the Passover Supper is seen when our Lord merged it into the Lord's Supper upon the eve of his own sacrifice for our redemption as the Lamb of God that taketh away the sins of the world. Thus "Christ our passover is sacrificed for us."

Jackets as complements to dresses may be out, according to latest word from Paris. Bodices are commanding so much attention in their own design and silhouette as to make the jacket unnecessary. For those dresses that need complementing, the capelet is the answer.

ILLUSTRATED SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

"The Passover"

Scripture—Exodus 11:1-12:36.

By the Rev. Alvin E. Bell And Alfred J. Buescher

In obedience to God's call and command Moses and Aaron went before Pharaoh, ruler of Egypt, and demanded that he permit the Israelites to go three days' journey into the wilderness to sacrifice unto Jehovah. Pharaoh refused and God sent ten great plagues upon the Egyptians.

From all these plagues the Israelites were exempt. As a sign for their exemption from the tenth plague of death to the first-born of every family they were ordered to slay a lamb and sprinkle its blood upon the top and sides of their doors.

In every Israelite's home behind the blood-sprinkled door their families gathered together to feast upon the sacrificial lamb. As they ate they stood with staff in hand ready to depart as soon as the angel of death had passed over them.

Thus the feast was named the "Passover."

At God's command the people departed from Egypt loaded with gifts their masters gave gladly to escape further judgments of God. The full meaning of this ceremony is seen in Christ's merging it with his Last Supper, for he is our passover and "Lamb of God" to take away sin.

Lawrence County Farms And Farmers

By H. R. McCulloch, County Agent

WILT IS SEVERE IN SWEET CORN FIELD

Severe outbreaks of wilt have occurred in sweet corn fields this year in Lawrence County. The disease is most serious on early varieties.

Symptoms usually appear when the corn plants are 12 to 24 inches high. The infected plants may die at any stage of development. In young plants the leaves become limp, showing a typical wilted condition. Infected plants often are severely stunted and tassel prematurely. The tassels die and turn white, while the leaves wilt and die as if killed by frost. Vascular bundles in the stalk turn yellow or brown, and drops of yellow bacteria form at ends of the bundles in freshly cut infected stems.

Bacteria cause the wilt disease, which is not known to live in the soil. The disease is carried on or in seed. Wet weather during or following planting increases the amount of wilt. High temperatures are required for development.

Control is effected by using disease-free seed or treatment of unclean seed. Northern-grown seed is most likely to be free of the disease. If home-grown seed is used it should be clean. If known to be diseased the seed should be soaked 15 minutes in a 1 to 1000 solution of corrosive sublimate (1 ounce to 7½ gallons of water). The seed should be rinsed thoroughly in fresh water and may be planted wet or dried for future planting.

CURB HONEY ROBBING AMONG BEE COLONIES

There are gangsters and racketeers among the so-called busy bees.

After the honey flow, bees will rob whenever the opportunity is offered. As little work as possible should be done with the bees at such times.

When working with the bees, be careful that no combs are left outside the hive even for a short period of time. If combs are removed from the hive, place them in an empty super covered both on the bottom and top with a cloth. Be careful that no honey falls on the ground. When robbing is troublesome, it is safer to work with the bees only during the late afternoon.

Some apiarists place a bunch of grass or weeds in the entrance of the hive to stop robbing. This material hinders the bees when they try to enter the hive. If the hives are on blocks for ventilation, the blocks are removed and the entrance closed with grass or weeds. Where bees persist in robbing a weak colony, it is best to remove the hive to a new location and close the entrance to a space large enough for only one bee to enter at a time.

When one colony is being robbed by another dust the trees with flour. Then watch to see which hive the bees enter. Exchange the bees so that the robbers are located on the stand of the bees being robbed. Also, close the entrance of the robbed hive to a small space.

PLANT LATE VEGETABLES TO KEEP GARDEN FILLED

Vegetables planted in July to fill the vacant spaces in the garden will provide a supply for use next fall and will help to fill the cellar, pantry and storage pits for winter.

Cabbage, sweet corn, and bush beans head the list of these crops but there are many others. Beets, carrots, rutabagas, and turnips are good food producers. Planted now, these vegetables will have better quality in storage than those grown from earlier planting. Turnips may be planted late in July or in early August.

Celery, Chinese cabbage, leaf lettuce, kohl rabi, and endive are leafy and green crops suitable for July planting.

Celery, particularly, needs a very rich soil and plenty of moisture. Stocky plants with good root systems, transplanted carefully are sure to get a good start. Level planting is best. A mulch of strawy chicken manute, placed between the rows as soon as the plants are large enough, will help to conserve and add nitrogen.

ORDER TREES NOW FOR PLANTING NEXT SPRING

Black locust seedlings for planting next spring should be ordered this summer.

Last year the State Nursery supply of this excellent fence post species was exhausted in the fall and many late appplicants could not obtain trees. Order early to prevent a recurrence of this disappointment. The seedlings cost only $2 a thousand, plus shipping charges.

Other species available from the State Nurseries are: white pine, red pine, pitch pine, Scotch pine, Norway spruce, Japanese larch, sugar maple, black walnut, white ash and tulip poplar.

Blanks for ordering the trees and assistance in choosing the right trees for the location to be planted can be obtained at the Agricultural Extension Association office.

DYES MAKE OLD LOOK LIKE NEW MATERIALS

With the aid of a few packages of dye much can be done in the way of brightening curtains, sofa pillow covers, and even rugs, while the faded dress of last summer or the summer before can be made to look fresh and new, says Miss Eleanor Drury, home economics extension representative of Lawrence county.

For permanent results it is well to use a dye which must be boiled. Purchase your favorite kind and carefully follow the directions given on the package. Have the fabric clean before trying to color it, Miss Drury recommends.

The various testile fibers require different handling in dyeing in order to secure the most satisfactory results.

Cotton and linen usually take the dye well and can be boiled without injury to the fabric.

Pure silk usually dyes well. It is better to keep the dye bath just below the boiling point. Do not wring the material after removing from the last rinse. Squeeze out the excess moisture or roll in a dry cloth and then shake dry.

Heavily weighted silk sometimes develops holes when dyed. Try boiling a sample in clear water for half an hour. If it stands this it should stand dyeing.

Pongee usually colors well but takes about double the usual quantity of dye and requires longer boiling. Do not try to dye it black.

Wool should be simmered rather than boiled and moved about gently in the dye-bath in order to reduce shrinkage and felting to a minimum. The first rinsing should be in hot soapy water and each successive rince water should be a little cooler but never cold. Never wring the material but press out excess moisture between cloths. Iron on wrong side while slightly damp, having a piece of cheese cloth between the iron and the material. Knitted articles should be pulled into shape and dried flat.

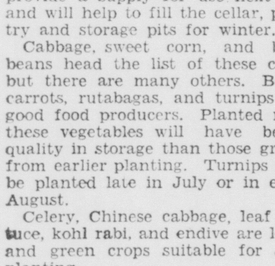

Since some rayons do not take the dye well it is wise to experiment on a sample. The material should be handled very gently while in the dye-bath as rayon fibers are weak when wet. Press on the wrong side with an iron which is not very hot.

Celanese cannot be colored with ordinary dye but it is possible to buy a special dye for this fabric. If in doubt as to whether your material is celanese try the burning test. A hard gummy ball will form. However, dyeing celanese at home it not recommended.

By following the package directions exactly and observing these few hints for handling various fibers even the beginner should be able to obtain good results.

Babies Ward At Cresson Opens

Tiny Tots Receive Treatment For Tuberculosis In State Sanitarium

HARRISBURG, July 15.— The babies ward of the new childrens' building at the Cresson Tuberculosis Sanitarium, has been put into service, according to announcement from the office of Dr. Theodore B. Appel, Secretary of Health.

Six patients have just been admitted to this ward, the youngest being 18 months old and the oldest 5 years. The ward has a capacity of 10 cribs, and was constructed and furnished for the purpose of giving treatment and care to that many little folks who showed tuberculosis tendencies. Previous to this time no child under 6 years of age could be admitted to either of the Sanitarium.

With the opening of this babies' ward, every part of the new building for children at Cresson has been put into use with the single exception of the dining room, which awaits suitable food conveyors to deliver supplies from the central Sanitarium kitchen.

The admission of children under six to the babies' ward will be in the regular way—that is through their examination by the various tuberculosis clinics of the State Department of Health.

Deserted Ruins On Butler Road Reveal Tragedy Of Wigdons

Many stories have been verbally told from generation to generation. Some of them have been tales of love while others have revealed deep tragedy.

This story, which has been told to the generation of today by the generation of yesterday, is a tragic drama of the early forties.

Out on the Butler Pike, between Slippery Rock and Butler, stand two deserted ruins. One is a farm house and the other a typical stone tavern of the early sixties. If each could talk, they would tell many colorful tales of the lives of people who visited there over a century ago.

The tavern would relate many events within its walls.

The gruesome tale the house would tell would put the stories of the tavern in the shade.

Here is the story as handed down to the present generation.

One hot July day there was a roaming Indian who stopped at Butler and secured some "fire water."

Now the "booze" of today was the "fire water" of yesterday.

Traveling north along the trail, which was the Pike road from Pittsburgh to Erie, the Indian stopped at the house owned by the Wigdon family.

Being around the noon hour, Mr. Wigdon and the farm hands were out in the fields reaping the harvest.

The Indian jumped from his horse and approached the front entrance to the house. A knock brought Mrs. Wigdon to the door. The Indian asked for a crust of bread.

Seeing that only the mother and her three children were at home, he stepped out in the yard and sharpened a knife which the Indians always carried with them.

The noon hour approached and the echoing sounds of the dinner bell were not heard by the men in the fields.

On their return to the home, the men found to their horror, that Mrs. Wigdon and the three children had been brutally murdered by the cruel hands of the Indian.

Immediately a "posse" was formed and the Indian was found several miles from the scene of the tragedy. He was brought back and confessed to the crime.

The murderer was taken to the Butler jail where he remained until his trial. He was convicted and later hanged.

There is a small stream which flows past the house and crosses the highway. After the murder of the Wigdon family, this stream was named Bloody Run.

Population Increase In State Is Slower

By ARTHUR C. WIMER
Special Washington Correspondent
New Castle News

WASHINGTON, D. C., July 15.— Population has increased with less rapidity in Pennsylvania than in the country as a whole since the census was taken in 1930, according to an analysis of estimates made by the Bureau of Census.

The official 1930 census placed the population of the Keystone State at 9,631,350. On July first of this year the residents of the state had expanded to 9,741,000, the Bureau estimates. This was an increase of 109,650 persons, or slightly more than 1.1 per cent.

The population of the country as a unit, on the other hand increased 1.6 percent, from 122,775,046 on April 1, 1930 to $124,822,000 on July 1, 1932, according to the Bureau's calculations.

Pennsylvania continues to rank second of the states in population. New York, coming first, had an increase of more than two per cent, from 12,588,066 on April 1, 1930 to 12,852,000 on July first this year.

The population of Ohio increased 1.6 per cent during the two year period, from 6,646,697 on the first of April 1930 to 6,753,000 on July 1, 1932 according to the Bureau's estimates.

Golf League Is Under Way

Ten Teams Tee-Off At Municipal Course Thursday Evening To Start League

BELL PHONES TAKE LEAD

New Castle's first serious effort at a golfing league, composed of the players of the two city courses Municipal and Castle Hills got away to a flying start last evening at the Municipal Course with ten teams teeing off. At the end of nine holes of play. Bell Phones were in first place.

Sixty golfers stepped up the tees and smacked them down the fairway straight and true. Two teams the Bankers and Reynolds-Sumners will play their match tonight. There was some mighty good golf played considering the tenseness and apparent newness of some of the players to the idea of competition.

The course was in fine shape. The fairways were cut short and afforded the golfer every means of getting his ball under way. The greens were just a little slow, due to the top-dressing, but it was a tricky layout and the boys enjoyed it.

Manager Bill Fleming greeted all of the players and took care of their every need. Mose Mancine, caddy-master at the "Muny" acted as starter. The foursomes moved away quickly. There were no delays. The matches are being played hole for hole.

The matches next Thursday will be played over the fairways of the Castle Hills course. The schedule will be announced at a later date.

Cleveland Keeps Going At Fast Pace By Upsetting League Leaders

JIMMY FOXX HITS HOMER NUMBER 35

By COPELAND C. BURG
International News Service Sports Writer

NEW YORK, Jul- 15.—Chesty like pouter pigeons, the New York Yankees were puffed up as usual today, overlooking the fact they made four errors and only nine hits yesterday when Cleveland banged t he m around, 11 to 3.

Jimmy the Foxx clicked homed No. 35 at the Athletics rose in wrath in the seventh inning, scoring seven runs to blast Detroit, 9 to 2.

Funk Texas-Leaguered in the eleventh and won the ball game, 9 to 8, for the Chicago Sox over Boston's hose.

Bill Swift, young Pirate hurler, stopped the Boston Braves cold with four hits, the Bucs recording it, 6 to 1.

The Chicago Cubs marked down Brooklyn, 4 to 1. Bush for the Bruins and Vance for the Dodgers each gave seven hits.

Dizzy Dean was not half as hot as St. Louis weather and the New York Giants grabbed off 12 hits to win 6 to 3 over the Cardinals.

Olympic Trials Are Held Today

Trials Today And Saturday Will Determine Makeup Of American Olympic Team

By FRANK G. MENKE
International News Service Sports Editor

PALO ALTO, Cal., July 15.—America's premier track and field athletes meet at Stanford University's oval today in the first of a two-day tryout for sixty odd places on the United States Olympic team.

Today's activities include trial heats and semi-finals, narrowing the field of approximately 225 athletes down to 100 for the finals tomorrow. Those stars finishing one-two-three in tomorrow's events will carry the American shield in the tenth Olympiad at Los Angeles.

"It's a pity only three can be named to the team after the finals," one of the coaches said today. "I'm sure the men who are fortunate to qualify could defeat the rest of the world's Olympic teams."

This is an indication how close competition will be. For instance the sprinters include Emmett Toppino, of Loyola, Frank Wykoff of U. S. C.; Ralph Metcalfe of Marquette, Jimmy Johnson and Eddie Tolan—the three Negro aces; Don Bennett of Ohio State; Bob Kiesel of California; George Simpson, John Waybright and Hector Dyer.

It is virtually impossible to tell who of this group will reach the finals. The guessing, however, seems to Favor Toppino, Wykoff and Metcalfe on the 100 meters team after the finals.

The 200 meters favorites point to Metcalfe, Kiesel and Tolan—but anything can happen in the trials today.

West Side Indies Defeat Highland

Here And There In Sports' Land

There's a new battler in Pa Newc's domain and his name is John Patrick Devlin, 19, Portsmouth, O., and according to Bob Latera, "this boy is ready now to fight some of these boys who are shouting for a chance at flyweight honors," Latera remarked. Devlin tips the scales at 110 pounds and he won't have to undergo the tortures of weight making to battle in the flyweight class. He has been boxing in ten rounders for some time and is considered a pretty hot scrapper around his home section. He was scheduled to box Johnny Edwards but when Edwards received an offer to fight five times in Tokio he called off the embroglio with John Patrick Devlin who is training at Latera's gym.

Rail Group Presents Consistently Steady Tone

TOBACCO SHARES ARE ALSO STEADY

(International News Service)

NEW YORK, July 15.—Renewed weakness in American Telephone on the publication of the company's earning report for the six months depressed the list and turned the market generally lower at the end of the first hour today.

With Telephone in the van, other leading utilities such as Consolidated Gas and Public Service of New Jersey declined from fractions to about 1 point.

United States Steel was again a target for liquidation and dipped fractionally on moderate volume. American Can displayed a tendency to work down to lower levels.

Auburn after opening strong and pushing ahead to 49 for a gain of more than 2 points quickly yielded to profit taking and short selling and dropped back to 46 for a net loss of 1½ points. The rest of the motor list, though, was generally quiet and steady with General Motors hovering around its previous close.

Tobacco shares were again steady with American Tobacco holding firm around yesterday's finish.

The special stocks turned lower with Coca Cola down slightly more than a point.

The rail group presented a consistently steady tone in contrast with the rest of the list. Atchison and Union Pacific moved ahead from ½ to ¾ of a point each.

Oil shares were steady.

Happy Hour Class Husbands Guests

Merry Evening Is Spent At Home Of Mr. And Mrs. Wilbur Barnett

ELLWOOD CITY, July 15—Ladies of the Happy Hour Class of the Slippery Rock Presbyterian church entertained their husbands last night at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Wilbur Barnett on the New Castle road, in a manner they will never forget. It was one merry evening in which everyone present participated in the fun and made the place echo with laughter.

The events of the evening were inaugurated with the serving of a fine dinner with covers laid for 65. This was followed by a short business meeting held by the class and was in charge of the president, Mrs. Harlan Gillespie. The remainder of the time was spent with games and contests.

In order to prevent peeking, members present held a hand over their one eye. Upon gazing in the mirror later the contestants discovered they had discolored optics. Another humorous event was the wheelbarrow race in which the men gave the ladies a rare ride. Johr M. Houk and Mrs. Earl Friday brought the house down with laughter when they entered in a baby marathon contest in which both were required to drink a baby bottle of milk with a nipple. Some of the men were slightly bewildered in the next contest when they had to write the names of several flowers shown.

The evening came to a conclusion with the serving of a delicious luncheon by a committee. The next meeting will be held on August 11.

How Highway Patrol Exam Of New Drivers Is Carried Out Here

None but those qualified obtain approval from the State Highway patrol to operate motor vehicles in the state of Pennsylvania according to the manner in which Corporal L. C. Hanks and his brother patrolmen conduct examinations in Sampson street, this city each Tuesday. Last Tuesday twenty seven of 40 applicants passed the driving test.

The examiners reach the city every Tuesday morning and promptly at 10 a. m. D. S. T. the tests start and those who have arrived first to undergo the test are the first to be given the examination. Promptly at three o'clock, unless there is a waiting list of applicants the tests are concluded and the squad examines prospects in another city the following day.

The prospective operators of automobiles drive or are driven to the New Castle Lumber & Construction company office in Sampson street. An applicant enters the office where there are several patrolmen in addition to Corporal L. C. Hanks. The applicants must produce the registration card for the machine he is to drive in the 'try out', show his learner's permit and then must read a chart.

This chart describes how accidents can be avoided. The purpose is to test the eye sight of the would be operator and he must stand a certain distance from the chart. He then is quizzed as to any physical defects. Following that test he is asked to read colors for the purpose of ascertaining if he is color blind and this quiz is followed by questioning as to the motor laws of the state of Pennsylvania.

The examiner then accompanies the applicants to the machine which the latter is to drive. It is checked over for defects. The headlights are examined. The rear light also is inspected. The patrolman examines the windshield wiper and the car must have a mirror. After this inquiry the applicant gets into the driver's seat and the patrolman also enters the car. The applicant is instructed to start the car and the driving examination starts.

The applicant must start and stop the car. Another test is to turn the car around in the street. The patrolman does not speak to the applicant, other than to issue instructions and there is absolutely no trickery used by the patrol. In other words if a person fails he or she fails because not yet qualified.

When a person is informed that they have failed to survive the test they are instructed along the point of failure and requested to again undergo the examination. When a person passes his learner's card is so stamped and in the course of a week or more he receives from the motor vehicle department a regular operator's license.

Some persons are decidedy nervous while replying to questions and more so when they enter the machine with the state highway patrolman. "I do not understand why this is" said Corporal Hanks recently. "We never say or do anything that would mar the even temperamen of a person but I suppose some persons naturally are under a strain. We realize this."

The highway patrol examining squad, the same as the highway patrolmen who rode the roads are very courteous. It is true that they do not waste words and that their appearance is stern. They are courteous and expect to be treated courteously. There is a dignity to their position. They must maintain it, but anyone who knows the highway patrol realizes thoroughly that they occupy those positions to protect the driving public.

ROAMING

With Richards

Some News, Some Views, But Mostly Just Observations Of Interesting Things Around New Castle.

The lad who insists upon stopping you with the query "is it hot enough for you," must be having a field day this week. Thursday on the highway was one of those days when you were sorry you hadn't hitched the family ice box to the radiator.

The service stations between here and the other side of the Alleghenies report a land office business in water, oil and criticism of the weather. Not even the good cars escaped the boiling process and driving the highway yesterday was no particular basket picnic.

Had a queer experience at a stand over in the mountains. Pushed the screen to get out and got a sweet electric shock. Seems they have screen doors now that are charged with current to kill off the flies and insects that try to fly through. After doing a hornpipe around the floor, and asking what the so and so they meant, the young lady in charge replied that they were bothered with flies and took this method of getting rid of them. Nice business.

Even the thumbers were driven to shelter. Instead of standing out on the highway, they parked under the shade of trees and leaned out as cars went by.

Saw a color scheme accompanied by sound last night that looked mighty good to me. Several streams of moving fire, some smoke and a symphonic roar of machinery. The Lehigh cement plant. Operating. Turning out cement that means work and walks and bread and bridges. Somehow those streams of molten lava made a picture that satisfied and the roar sounded like the work of an orchestra.

On quiet nights the sound floats clear across the East Side and instead of being an offensive roar it sounds like a lullaby. The kind of lullaby I hope continues floating out across the breeze for a long time to come.

Something new, a golf league. Here in New Castle. Regular teams and all that sort of thing. With one from The News in charge of Professor Charley Walthers. You can expect any kind of a score in that league. Some of them sounding like telephone numbers on a dial phone and some of them like a hat size.

TYLER, Texas, July 15—When boy scouts of Tyler looked around to find their "good turn," they picked a job that is expected to bring a great deal of benefit to this city.

Under the direction of Jimmie Lavender, scoutmaster, the Public Service committee of the Boy Scouts has stocked a gambusia (commonly known as the "top-minnow") hatchery in co-operation with the State Department of Health for the control of the malaria carrying Anopheles mosquito.

The hatchery, located in the rear lawn of the city hall, is stocked with gambusia from nearby streams, and at certain times each week the surplus gambusia are distributed to citizens of the city who place them in lawn fountains, rock garden pools and lily pools.

The gambusia are the natural enemies of mosquito larva, and the city health office has announced that all private pools not stocked with gambusia will be oiled by the city.

PARIS BOASTS ONLY BABY ZOO IN WORLD

PARIS, July 15—The only baby Zoo in the world is to be found in the Jardin d'Acclimation in the Bois de Boulogne.

This unusual Zoo contains nothing but baby animals, both domestic and wild and included baby bears, hyenas, goats, lambs, pigs, monkeys, Llamas, camels, rabbits, puppies, kittens, colts, calves, pumas, and one baby elephant. The elephant and the camel are the least favored by the tiny tots who come to play with and feed the small animals.

Nursing bottles of milk may be rented from the Zoo authorities, equipped with nipples for the smallest piglets and bear cubs.

Democrats Allow Nicknames On Ballot

(International News Service)

AUSTIN, Tex., July 15—Nicknames are legal in the Texas Democratic primary this year, so voters with a penchant for pseudonyms may be gratified with such as Billy, Jack, Ozro and Cyclone—without quotation marks.

The Democratic executive committee ruled the names could go on the ballot, sans quotations or parentheses.

Ernest C. Ozro Cox got his nickname from his birthplace. J. M. Cyclone Davis, one-time member of Congress, was named by Marse Henry Watterson for his oratory.

But former Governor James E. "Jim" Ferguson, who is running his wife, former Governor Miriam A. "Ma" Ferguson, for governor this year, still sticks to the more formal appellation, and no one has suggested that Governor Ross Shaw Sterling's name be placed upon the ballot in his self-styled Ross Shaw "Big Fat Boy" Sterling.
